INTERESTING FROM MEXICO.

Proceedings of the French and English Commanders at Vera Cruz.

Injustice of England and France towards Americans.

The New Cabinet—General Intelligence from the Departments.

From Our Own Correspondent.

City of Mexico, Saturday, Feb. 19, 1859.

Since the date of my last letter to you, on the 5th inst., events have transpired of more than usual importance. For convenience, I will detail them to you in chronological order.

ANOTHER HEAVY FORCED LOAN.

On the 7th inst., a decree was published imposing a contribution of 1 per cent. upon the capital of persons residing in Mexico, no matter whether their capital be here or in any other part of the world. If residents do not come forward and declare their wealth to be what it is, officers of the Government have a right to fix it at what they please, and charge accordingly. If parties do come forward and declare their wealth, and it be possible for the officers of the Government to disprove such declaration, heavy fines are to be imposed, in addition to a contribution upon the highest scale of valuation. The decree of the 7th also exacts from employes two months' salary.

It is needless to say that this so-called "contribution" has created the greatest dissatisfaction. It is more odious than the contribution of May last, which has been qualified by the Governments of the United States and England as a forced loan. The decree commences with the old thread-bare assertion that the contribution is imposed "for once only." So it was said in May last, and now, less than nine months after, they have the unblushing impudence to repeat the same faithless assurance. If they would say "at our convenience," instead of "for once only," it would be more proper, for if this thing be allowed to go on, we may expect to find out that "once only" means, in the language of Mexican financiering, every month or sixty days.

Before the imposition of the present "contribution," and on the occasion of Miramon's accepting the Presidency, he (M.) declared that his sole object in accepting power at this time was "to raise money to prosecute a successful campaign against Vera Cruz." In the face of this declaration, it cannot be claimed for the present impost that it is anything but a forced loan made for the purpose of carrying on the civil war, and that it has none of the qualities of a regular tax. In San Luis Potosi, where the officers of the Government are not so clever as they are here, the present impost has not been disguised. It is openly and fairly acknowledged to be a forced loan, and the force to be used to compel compliance with the exactions is fifty lashes! In Catorce, a scaffold has been erected to intimidate people into the payment of the loan!! But, notwithstanding these facts are already known here, no action has been taken by the foreign Ministers to screen their citizens from this new act of governmental brigandage. The French Minister is, as ever, the advocate and partisan of the Government. Mr. Otway, the British Minister, is an out-and-out good-for-nothing, and is twisted around the fingers of the French Minister, and humbugged and cajoled by the Spanish Party in Mexico to do everything that is anti-English. He is jealous of his own countrymen, and public rumor says absolutely spurns the counsels of the clever gentleman and statesman sent out here to supersede him. It is an unfortunate circumstance that Mr. Otway has not before now availed himself of his leave of absence and gone off.

The Americans doing business here have made a protest to Mr. Black, our Consul, against paying this contribution; which on the 14th was sent to the Government, but without eliciting any reply as yet, at least so far as I know. I think it quite probable that a similar protest may pass through the hands of the English Minister to the Mexican Government, but I feel sure the British Minister will make no efforts to save his citizens. The French Minister I do not believe will condescend to hand in any protest made by his citizens. So foreigners here will assuredly be put to the rub and made to pay, and thereby another million or more of foreign claims will be heaped upon the back of poor Mexico. The period for seizures will commence before my next, and you may therefore expect to receive another interesting chapter on this subject.

DIPLOMATIC DINNER.

On the 8th Miramon gave a grand banquet to the Diplomatic corps at the Mineral College. The object of the dinner was to show how far he could use the foreign Ministers, and rob and outrage foreigners with security. The dinner was well attended. Mr. Otway at the last moment sent an excuse (plea of illness) for not attending. The balance of the diplomats were there. The toasts were all of the serio-burlesque order, decidedly anti-Monroe doctrine, and in favor of Papal and Monarchical rule in Mexico. One toast given by a friend of Miramon said in effect (I forgot the words): "General Miramon, who goes to Vera Cruz as Napoleon I., to come back to follow the illustrious example of Napoleon III." This is brief, but expresses very clearly the present ambitious designs of the young scamp now at the head of affairs in this very deplorably poor country.

GRAND BALL.

On the 12th we had a grand ball at the Lonja, apparently given by the commerce to the new President. The Lonja is the Exchange or Bourse of Mexico. It is owned and kept up in the same manner as clubs are in the United States and England. Its members comprise the principal gentlemen in this city, and in addition to the use the club room is put to of serving as an exchange, reading room, &c., it has been the custom of the club to give a ball every three months. Lonja balls have always been the finest given in this capital. The main saloon is grand; the supper room the largest in the city, and the withdrawing rooms, card rooms, &c., as fine as can be met with anywhere.

Miramon conceived the idea of giving a ball before his departure for Vera Cruz. The Lonja offered more accommodations than the best rooms in the palace, and he was therefore anxious to get it for the occasion. A request was consequently made by the Governor of the District, on the part of the President, to the members of the Lonja for their rooms. As none of the members wished to cultivate trouble for himself, no one objected to lending the Lonja to Miramon, and therefore the request was granted. This done, certain members of the Lonja Club, belonging to the Church Party, went to Miramon and assured him that the Club not only wished to give up their rooms, but also insisted upon giving him the ball. It would be doing injustice to the discernment of the President to say he did not understand the game here to be played, which was to make it appear to the world that the commerce of this capital had given him a ball in appreciation of his great merits. Miramon, of course, accepted, notwithstanding the invitation came in a very irregular way. He knew as well as the disreputable members who proposed the thing to him that if the question had been raised in the Club it would not have been supported by one-third of the members.

The officers of the Lonja at this time are friends of Miramon, and therefore it was not difficult to manage affairs very quietly. The invitations were printed in the name of the Club, to the astonishment and disgust of the members not in the plot. No invitations were given out until the third day before the ball, and the great majority were issued on the last day, and but few of the members knew until the last moment what sort of a position they were in. The guards had already taken possession of the Club-rooms, and it would have been considered a downright revolt for the members to have held a meeting and tried to have broken up the ball. The only thing left to them was to stay away themselves, and I am happy to say that but few persons of any character among the foreigners were in attendance. The ball, however, was crowded with such people as could be found, of which there is a goodly number in Mexico, to patronize anything in the way of a Vanity Fair.

The consequence of this ball will be that a great majority of the respectable members of the Club will withdraw and form a new Club, with more particular regulations to frown down and keep out of its circle men capable of such low tricks as that which has just been practiced.

GRAND REVIEW AND DEPARTURE OF TROOPS FOR VERA CRUZ

On the 14th there was a grand review of the troops by Miramon in person, which took place on the Paseo Nuevo. Miramon was dressed in grand style for the occasion. He literally shone with gold lace, his whole body being covered with that material. His appearance was absurd, but absurd as was his appearance his conduct was if anything more so. Bombastes in reviewing his own boots never swelled with such martial pride, nor did that warrior ever use more vaunting language to his lame, halt and blind veterans than did Miramon on this occasion to the poor devils of recruits who form the flower of the Mexican army. Miramon made his speech, and his troops followed with the "vivas," in a manner that would put to blush raw hands in an operatic chorus. This done, the music struck up, and they all marched into the city and out through the Garita de San Lazaro, and took the road for Vera Cruz. The troops were in all some 1,400. Miramon followed them on the 16th.

DEMANDS MADE FOR ENGLISH AND FRENCH INTERFERENCE AT VERA CRUZ—THE FRENCH MINISTER ORDERS THE FRENCH COMMANDER TO PREVENT THE LANDING OF AMERICANS AT VERA CRUZ, AND TO USE FORCE IF NECESSARY.

On the 15th an extraordinary was sent from here with important dispatches to the French and English commanders at Vera Cruz. It appears that some days before, Miramon had got hold of a report that 500 Americans were expected at Vera Cruz to aid the Liberal Government, and became very much alarmed. He addressed letters to the French and English Ministers at once, and demanded the direct interference of their fleets at Vera Cruz to prevent the landing of any forces destined to aid the Liberals. This demand was received by the Frenchman with applause, and he at once penned a positive order to the officer in command of the French vessels to prevent the landing of Americans at all hazards—to fire upon them if necessary.

The English Minister was more cautious, it is said, and has written to Capt. Dunlop, of the English fleet, inclosing the demand of Miramon, and requesting Capt. D. to do just what he thinks best if the Americans present themselves. This is undoubtedly the most sensible dispatch penned by Mr. Otway for a long time, for it frankly acknowledges his own inability to advise in the matter. Had his capacities been of the merest school boy order he would have advised Capt. Dunlop that he could not have interfered with the landing of any persons not objected to by the people in command of Vera Cruz.

It is now universally believed here that Americans are to come to Vera Cruz, and for that reason Miramon and the Church Party are anxious that their forces shall come before that place at the very earliest date. Should they find, however, that Americans have landed, the entire game will be considered lost, although Miramon has agreed to give a grand battle if the worst comes to the worst. Should there perchance be 500 Americans in the field to meet him it will be his last. He will return here not like a Napoleon, but like Santa Anna did after the battle of San Jacinto—a used-up man.

The grounds for the report of the advent of Americans to Vera Cruz are that some 100 to 150 roughs from Texas have already landed at Vera Cruz, having come viâ Tampico, and also the detention of the Tennessee, on her last trip from Vera Cruz, is considered to signify something. It is well known to the Government that a few weeks since a person, playing the part of a secret agent, came to this city. He stayed here but a few days, and, like all hasty visitors, went off with the idea that he had learned all about affairs in this distracted country. Like all persons ignorant of the Mexican character, he had "confidential" talks with Liberals here, and the result is all Mexico now knows the mission of this "Secret" Agent. It is, therefore, that the Church party are so nervous at this moment, and have made Miramon demand French and English protection. Will not the action of the Church party and the French Minister here open the eyes of the people of the United States as to what is going on? Should Congress adjourn without doing anything for Mexico I should not wonder to see Vera Cruz in the hands of French troops before the month of June.

DEPARTURE OF MIRAMON.

On the 16th Miramon took his departure from here to join his troops, who left on the 14th. He was accompanied by several distinguished persons, among them the "fat boy," Gen. Robles. Poor Robles, after playing the rôle he has in trying to eclipse Miramon, turns up a mere officer in the latter's army. What a spectacle of fallen greatness! But he is not to blame, poor man. He has always had his owners, and now when it suits them to make a good financial operation out of the "forced loan," they make poor Robles lick the dust of suspicion from the boots of Miramon. Robles flatters himself that there will be a row in the camp sooner or later, and that he may pop in the Presidential chair for a few hours again through the event.

ROW AT SAN BLAS—FORCED LOAN AT SAN LUIS, &C.

On the 16th we received two extraordinaries here—one from the Pacific Coast, and one from San Luis Potosi. The first brought news of the seizure of Mr. Allsop, manager of the house of Barron, Forbes & Co., at Tepic, and the enforcing of that gentleman to pay $15,000, on the penalty of being put in the ranks and made to march with the guerilla forces of Losada—a most notorious robber, now in the service of the Church party—if he refused to pay. Poor Allsop had no alternative, and, by dint of flying about, raised the money and gave it. About the same time this was going on in Tepic, H. B. M.'s ship Alert made her appearance in the port of San Blas, which is under the same military commandancy. The Captain, so soon as he heard of the great outrage and robbery that had been practiced on Mr. Allsop, threatened to blow San Blas to pieces in an hour, if the money was not, within that period of time, refunded. This old-fashioned bit of John Bull's diplomacy worked like a charm, and the talegas were handed over; and the affair furnishes a very handsome contrast to the acts of the British Minister here, who, while his citizens are robbed in a more polished but equally effective manner, plays the agreeable to the brigands of the Government.

The extraordinary from San Luis Potosi brought the news of another "forced loan" there, the particulars of which I have already given you. The only thing that remains to be said of the forced loans, both at San Luis and at Catorce, is, that the English residents of those places have been exempted from payment. All other foreigners remain the same as natives. This was a special favor, granted to the British Minister for his handsome behavior to Miramon in these days.

ENGLISH-FRENCH INTERFERENCE WITH THE MEXICAN REVENUE.

On the 17th the basis of the late so-called foreign interference at Vera Cruz for the benefit of foreign creditors, leaked out mysteriously in one of the journals of this Capital, and as I have reason to believe the facts and figures to be exactly true, I will give them to you.

By the tariff of 1856, one-half the duties on imports was made payable at the ports of entry and one-half at this Capital. So soon as Comonfort resigned to Juarez, and while Comonfort still held military command of this Capital for the Constitutional party, Juarez sent orders to General Parrodi, then commanding for him at Guadalajara, to make certain alterations in the tariff. This was done. The provision I have just mentioned was abrogated, and all the duties declared payable at the ports, and a reduction of 20 per cent. was made on the tariff of 1856. The latter was intended to be a check to smuggling, and to give an advantage to legitimate commerce. Those who know Mexico must know that the Custom-house would also be a gainer by this reduction. The reformed tariff was popular with everybody except those who were interested in contraband trade, and no fault was found with it for over a year.

The English and French Ministers, under plea of working for the interests of their citizens, ordered their naval commanders at Vera Cruz to put themselves in battle array, and demand the complete restoration of the Tariff of 1856, and the payment of the English convention, English bondholders and French convention, as long since agreed upon, and the extra sum of 8 per cent. to each of the conventions. The exactions of England and France against Vera Cruz stand as follows:

For the English Convention,	16 per cent.
For the English Convention, (arrears)	8 per cent.
For the French Convention	25 per cent.
For the French Convention, (arrears)	8 per cent.
For the English bondholders	25 per cent.
E. and F. demands upon import duties	82 per cent.

Thus, you see, if the Liberals of Vera Cruz had possession of the Capital, there would be a balance of 18 per cent. coming to them; but, as they have not possession of the capital, and as 50 per cent. of the duties are payable here, it is quite clear that they are required to pay 82 per cent. with 50. It seems incredible that men in any capacity of life could have lent themselves to the making of such absurd demands as those made by the English and French Ministers against Vera Cruz. The people of Vera Cruz cannot, no more than any one else, pay 82 cents with 50, and the civilized world cannot expect them to go and borrow money to pay the deficit of 32 cents arising from every dollar of import duties received at their port. The persons in possession of this capital gain 50 per cent., unincumbered by any foreign mortgages, on all the imports from this time forward, or so long as the guns of England and France force the people of Vera Cruz into compliance. Certainly, the people of Vera Cruz would not have committed such a folly if they had had an alternative, but there was none left for them.

In brief, the Vera Cruz arrangement may be summed up as follows: The commerce loses 20 per cent. This capital, or the Clergy Party, gains 50 per cent. English and French creditors have 50 per cent. to pay 82 per cent. with. And the Liberals of Vera Cruz lose everything, and get snubbed in the bargain.

Is it difficult to decide who are the especial gainers by this "arrangement?" Am I wrong in calling this business a contemptible piece of partisanship? It is to be hoped, for decency's sake, that the British Minister will very soon be peremptorily ordered from here by his Government. His conduct is not only a disgrace to England, but to the whole Anglo Saxon race. As acts of this kind, once done, become history, the United States should not let this matter go unnoticed. But I almost despair of ever seeing our Government do anything.

FORMATION OF A CABINET.

On the 15th, Miramon accepted the customary oath given by Cabinet Ministers from the persons he had chosen to act in that capacity. The Cabinet of Miramon is made up as follows:

Manuel Diaz de Borcilla, Relations; Teofilo Marin, Interior; Manuel Larrainzar, Justice; Octairano Murioz Ledo, Fomento; General Cevego Castillo, War; Gabriel Sagaceta, Finance.

Many of the persons here named are known to the world. They are principally from the Santa Anna Party, which now appears to have the chief control of Miramon.

MILITARY COMMANDER AND GOVERNOR OF THE DISTRICT

General Corona has been appointed Military Commander and Governor of the District of Mexico, in place of Governor Ascarete, and a new Ayuntamiento has been formed to replace the old one of Zuloaga. Corona is the head of the Government in the absence of Miramon, and, should the latter not return, he will, for a time, be the Chief Magistrate. The Cabinet, however, will plan all matters of Government.

GRAND REVIEW AT PUEBLA—ARMY MOVEMENTS.

Yesterday a grand review of the army destined for Vera Cruz took place at Puebla. Miramon entered that city the night previous, and was received by a salute of 101 guns. The review yesterday was undoubtedly a grand affair. It is probable that last night the whole army moved from Puebla, and will not halt again until they reach Jalapa, which should be on or about the 22d. There the main force of attack is to be thoroughly prepared for their journey to Vera Cruz, where they will likely arrive about the same time that this reaches the Times Office, and as the reader of this is quietly sipping his coffee and disposing of his beefsteak and rolls at the St. Nicholas, Delmonico's, the Metropolitan, in that cozy retreat, the Gramercy Park House, or any where else in the great American metropolis, he may picture in his mind's eye heroic Vera Cruz, the scene of battle and carnage, and if the people of Vera Cruz are not supported by outside assistance, (Americans, &c.,) the reader may expect to hear by next mail that the Sebastopol of Mexico has been taken by Miramon, and that the "Death's head-marrow-bones" flag of the Church party of Mexico floats over San Juan de Ulloa. The seeds of death have already been planted amongst the Liberals of Vera Cruz. The Mexican character cannot resist bribery, and the golden bits have been sent them in abundance by the Church to buy up all the principal officers of the Liberal garrison. It is now said here, by those who ought to know, that a sufficient number of the officers at Vera Cruz have been purchased to insure the fall of the place.

REPORTS FROM THE DEPARTMENTS.

It is said Colima has again returned to the hands of the Federalists.

In Morelia Degollado has imposed heavy forced loans. He has melted up all the Church bells in the place and run them into cannon. At last dates he had dispatched two parties—one to operate in the Bahio and the other in the country between Guadalajara and the Pacific coast. The party for the Bahio have already taken Salamanca and put the place under heavy contributions.

From a gentleman just down from Zacatecas and San Luis Potosi, I learn that all that section of country has been desolated by the civil war. The people are disgusted and tired, and are praying for deliverance from the strolling bands who pillage rich and poor alike. My informant says there is little chance for the Liberals to retake San Luis just now. The Government has a strong garrison there and are well fortified.

Guadalajara at present appears to be unmolested in the hands of Government, but no confidence exists in the duration of peace, and therefore the city remains in the last degree of misery and inaction.

Mazatlan, that was threatened by Pesquiera, has been relieved by a force of the Government under Gen. Gomez.

From Tamaulipas, Nuevo Leon and Coahuila, Sonora, Durango and Chihuahua we get nothing. There are no mails to those Departments. In fact, I may also throw in under the same head, Oaxaca, Guerrero and the Central American Departments. From these latter quarters you are more likely to receive late reliable advices than we are in this capital.

The last letters from Vera Cruz say the Juarez people are in good spirits and express their determination to fight to the last. That is an old story with them before the day of battle comes, but they never have failed to bolt when the action has commenced.

DREADFUL STATE OF THE HIGHROADS.

The road between this and Orizava was never quite so bad as at this time. The stages come in robbed every day—some days having been robbed as often as six times. The code of honor among the robbers on the Vera Cruz road seems to be getting into disuse. I learn from passengers that Band No. 2 never fails to traduce the character of Band No. 1, and Band No. 3 abuses both 1 and 2, and so on, until Band No. 6, seeing the naked and penniless passengers, declares that there should be laws to bring to account such unmitigated rascals as Bands Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5. The other day, a gentleman coming up from Vera Cruz was robbed on the road. While the robbers were emptying his portmanteau, he took the liberty of asking for a certain article they had taken a fancy to and laid to one side. They declined giving it up, upon which he offered more than double its value in money. The robbers agreed to the terms, but said "Where is your money?" To which he replied—"You have already taken all I have with me, but if you will give me the article I will send you the money to-morrow by the stage driver." At this proposition the leader of the band reflected for a moment, shook his head and said—"No, Señor, it is too great a risk. The roads are very insecure in these days!" The roads all over the country are pretty much the same as that leading toward the Gulf coast.

HEALTH OF THE CITY.

The health of the city has been very bad, and a number of our most distinguished residents have been dangerously ill. Mr. L. S. Hargous has been dangerously ill, but is now better. Mr. Barron has also been very low, but is now in a fair way for recovery. Several others have also been very sick. The only death I have to notice among persons known to foreign visitors to Mexico, is that of Doña Dolores Amor y Escandon, the eldest sister of Don Manuel Escandon. She was a person highly esteemed by all who knew her. The health of the city is now improving. The late unhealthy season was owing to the unusual weather, which has afflicted us for the whole of the present dry season.

Later Particulars from Vera Cruz Journals and Letter-writers.

The extraordinary which should have left Mexico March 7, in time for the Tennessee, which sailed from Vera Cruz on the 9th, had not arrived at the departure of the steamer.

From journals and letters received from Vera Cruz, we are thus enabled to add intelligence a fortnight later to that contained in the above letter from our Correspondent at the capital.

Miramon's forces, or rather the advanced portion of them, consisting of 800 men under Gen. Cobos, were encountered in the ravine of Jamapa, near Cordoba, by the Constitutionalist troops under Gen. La Llave, and driven back, with a loss of 90 killed, 100 wounded, and 150 taken prisoners. Two cannons, 300 muskets, and a large quantity of ammunition, it is also stated, fell into the hands of the victors. The action took place on the 4th inst. Miramon, after the engagement, fell back on Orizaba.

The defeat suffered by Miramon is said to be much severer than is stated by Ampudia, in his official communications, and many consider him morally dead and gone.

The impression is now general that Miramon will deliver himself up to Alatriste, who is waiting for him on his retreat near Tulanzingo.

Miramon's army, it is stated, was being thinned by desertion. The Progreso notices the escape of 21 men, going over to the Liberals in one night, all fully armed.

Degollado was threatening the City of Mexico, where Miramon had only left 500 men as a garrison.

The Liberal army is close up to the capital. Caamano, with 2,500 men, was, when last heard from, at Caautla, a place only thirty leagues from the capital.

Celaya, Salamanca, Siloa, Aguascalientes, Leon, Callena and Guanajuato have been reoccupied by the constitutional forces.

Santiago Vidaurri also gives encouraging news to the Juarez Government, in a letter dated Monterey, Feb. 21. A dispatch received by him from Ignacio Zaragaza, dated Aguascalientes, Feb. 16, states that that commander had 3,000 men and nine pieces of artillery with him, and was about to march against San Luis de Potosi. Col. Zuazua, with 2,000 riflemen from Nueva Leon and Coahuila, was to join him. Aguascalientes was occupied by him without bloodshed.

Gen. Ampudia, on the 26th ult., declared martial law in the city of Jalapa, as well as in the cantons of Coatepec, Misantla, Papantla, Jalacingo, Tuspan, Chicontepec, Pueblo Viejo, Tantoyuca and Huatusco. In the latter place Gen. Ampudia had established the headquarters of the Liberal army. Ampudia is praised by the Progreso for appealing to the liberality of the nation instead of levying forced loans.

Joaquin Miramon, the brother of President Miramon, arrived at San Luis de Potosi with only 200 men of the 900 men with which he set out.

The report that President Juarez and his Cabinet had taken up their residence in the Castle of San Juan d'Ulloa turns out to be unfounded. President Juarez, the Progreso of the 2d states, lives in the house of the British Consul.

The Rival Presidents of Mexico—Miramon and Juarez.

Correspondence of the New-Orleans Picayune.

Minatiltan, Feb. 17, 1859.

Recent events have transpired in Mexico, which induce the belief that the secret service fund of the United States was employed to effect the overthrow of Zuloaga, and the establishment of a liberal government under Robles. It is impossible to make intelligent Mexicans believe otherwise, and the partisans of Miramon are not slow to stimulate the credulity of those who hear and repeat it.

If such was the project of the American Cabinet, it failed in one particular at least; and the question arises, Will not the Administration of Miramon, embittered by the impression of this unwarranted interference of our Government, still further complicate our affairs with Mexico?

For Miramon's character, I confess that I have an unspeakable admiration. He is acknowledged on all hands to be the finest soldier in the Mexican army, and his brilliant overthrow of Vidaurri stamps him as a man of excellent military genius. Mexico has never yet been ruled by a civilian, and whatever may be said of Miramon's youth and aristocratic tendencies, he has the strong unbending will and the pluck, both in a moral and physical sense, to maintain the dignity of his position. If Vera Cruz falls beneath the blows of this "young soldier of the Church," Oaxaca cannot resist the contagion of her weak example. Then the blood will flow, and the long pent-up vengeance of the infuriated priesthood will be wreaked upon an unoffending people. The expatriated inhabitants of Tehuantepec will be restored to their homes—not for peace, but for "war to the knife" with those who drove them into exile. Juchitan will be razed to the ground, and a price will be put upon the head of every man, woman and child among the tribe of Juchitecos. Such a condition of things is inevitable if Miramon succeeds before Vera Cruz, and I confess my fears that he will. The most important American interests are now at stake on the Isthmus; and it is the duty of our Government, instead of uselessly mixing itself up in the internal and infernal broils of Mexico, to send a vessel of war at once to this place, lest there should be any interruption to the present peaceful and well-regulated state of affairs.

It is one thing to admire the general character of a hero, but it is quite another to become the indorser of his unrelenting policy; and lest you should infer from what I have written that I am lost in my admiration for Miramon, let me tell you who Juarez is.

Within sight of the Vigia of Chivela, but about four leagues to the westward, is a depression in the dividing ridge between the two oceans. Through this mountain defile is a narrow and tortuous road which leads you along the base of the conical peak of Guievixia, to the Pass of Guichilona. Here, in a deep ravine, overgrown with rejucos and parasites and cacti, are the ruins of an adobe house. In this house 53 years ago, Benito Juarez was born. His father, who was a Zapoteco Indian, owned some cattle, and he earned a frugal subsistence from the sale of the skins of the sheep that browzed upon the scrub-oaks on the barren hillsides of the pass. The occupation of young Juarez was the care of these flocks, and it is here we find the beginning of those circumstances which led to his successful career. A fiesta was about to come off at Chihuitan, a small village about three leagues distant, and day after day in advance of the festival the mule train was thronged with people from all parts of the Isthmus, wending their way to dispose of their wares or aid in doing honor to the patron saint of Chihuitan. Benito Juarez, who was then 12 years old, had never seen a fair. There was something in this gay throng which captivated him, and he determined to abandon his charge and go. That night the boy passed in the midst of the venders and buyers at Chihuitan, wondering why the world was so rich, and he so poor. When the morning came and the feast was ended, he was afraid and ashamed to return: and while discussing in his own mind the probable consequences of his desertion of the flock, he was accosted by the owner of a mule train, from Oaxaca, with an offer of employment. In doubt what to do, he was pressed into an acceptance, and turned his back forever upon Guichilona.

It was not long before he found service as a mozo in the family of a wealthy Spaniard, by whom he was taught to read and write. Step by step he advanced in learning and in the affections of his employer. The rest is known to us all. He graduated with high honors at the College of Oaxaca, and rose rapidly to the summit of the legal profession in Southern Mexico. This brief history of the early days of the President of the Liberal Party was told me by an old Mexican, and I have yet to meet the person who can contradict it.

The statesmanlike ability and the integrity of purpose of Juarez is admitted by everybody; but, unfortunately for his ambition, he is a graduate from the walks of civil life, and these, we know, do not lead to the Presidential chair of the Republic. It is even doubtful, if Juarez were a soldier instead of a scholar as he is, whether he could succeed. In the overthrow of the dynasty of the Montezumas it was decreed that no descendant of the ancient kings of Anahuac should ever approach the ruins of the throne. The Indian race never can furnish another ruler for Mexico. The line of demarcation was drawn at the time of the conquest, and there is no contingency at this day to alter that stern decree. Strange as it may appear to us, considering that four-fifths of the population of Mexico is pure Indian, there is as much repugnance to an Indian Chief Magistrate as there would be to one in the United States. So much for Mexican politics.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

Washington, Monday, March 21.

The President, having yielded to the views of the Cabinet, telegraphed to New-York to say that no Extra Session would be called.

Dispatches just received from Mr. Churchwell represent the cause of the Mexican Liberals as improving, and that there is a great probability of the speedy recognition of the Juarez Government. The Administration is now satisfied that this is the proper course to be pursued.

[FROM THE REPORTER FOR THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, Monday, March 21.

An official telegraphic dispatch was sent to New-York to go out by the California steamer, that there will be no extra session. There is much speculation as to how the service of the Post-office will be maintained. In quarters usually best informed on such subjects it is said the law authorizing contracts will continue to be carried out, embracing the issue of Treasury warrants, as usual, but as there is no money to pay them, they will in the hands of contractors serve as the basis of loans. It is not known that any other evidences or certificates of indebtedness will be issued.

In reply to a note of George Mattingly, dated today, the Postmaster-General informs him that Congress has, for the first time since the organization of the Government, failed to make provision for the Post-office Department. He adds: "Had all the members of the next Congress been elected, the President might, on the 4th of March, have called an extra session and the omissions of the late Congress been supplied; but it was impossible to do so without disfranchising fifteen of the sovereign States. This was most unfortunate. There ought to be no time when a full Congress could not be convened, and it is hoped such a state of affairs may never again occur. Had the bill which failed made provision only for the fiscal year commencing July 1, there would have been obviously no necessity for an extra session. The deficiency on the 30th of June will amount to $4,385,381, nearly $750,000 of which being an unpaid balance, accumulation on the 31st December and 28th February, and which can and will be paid by the Department within 60 days from this date. The payment of the principal part will be made within 30 days. The Postmaster-General makes these statements to show that it would be impossible to convene Congress in time to meet the great bulk of the responsibilities without virtually excluding from Congress the representatives of several of the sovereign States. In the judgment of the President the lesser evil was to wait until the first Monday in December when Congress will be full. Contracts can never be repudiated; after the amounts due shall be ascertained, they become debts which must be paid. On this the contractors, if they desire, can borrow money, and the lender could have no other security. Provision should be made for the payment of the interest, which would amount to less than $200,000. A system of retrenchment, so far as practicable, is now an imperative duty. By the act of 1858, Congress established six hundred and ninety-five new post routes, the service of which includes the St. Paul's and Puget's Sound route, established in 1855, but not yet put in operation. It has been estimated that these require an annual appropriation of $604,488 over and above the receipts accruing therefrom. Not a dollar has been appropriated for this purpose; and, as a consequence—though the contracts for those routes have been advertised and proposals received—they cannot be put in operation until provision shall be made for them by law."

No action has as yet been taken on the subject of the Boston Post-Office, hence all speculations as to what will be done in the premises are unreliable.

THE SPRING FRESHETS.

High Tides—Damage to Property—Detention of Railroad Trains.

THE FRESHET ON THE HUDSON.

The tides on the Hudson River during the past week have been very high, reaching in many places to a height of two feet over the docks. On Friday morning a southeast gale set in, which continued with unabated fury until 12½ o'clock on Saturday afternoon; this, assisted by the freshet, and the influence which a full moon is supposed to have upon the tides, caused the river to rise to a fearful height, flooding docks, lots, &c., damaging and destroying property to an immense amount. The water has done some damage to the track on the Hudson River Railroad, having washed it in several places, undermining portions of the track and preventing trains from running through on Saturday.

The track between this City and Poughkeepsie is in first-rate order, and trains make their regular time. With the exception of two cases, the water has done no damage whatever to the track between these points. The only damage was at Sing Sing and New-Hamburgh, where the track was weakened to the length of two or three rails, on Saturday morning, but it was soon repaired. The Express train which left this City on Saturday at 8 A. M. arrived at Poughkeepsie on time, and started north, but could not proceed beyond Vandebergh's Bay, between Staatsburgh and Rhinebeck. The 11:15 train also arrived at the former place on time, but as the trains could not proceed further north than the Bay, a train was made up at Poughkeepsie for this City.

The emigrant train which arrives at Coxsackie at 3 o'clock A. M., ran off the track on Saturday morning, near that village, at that hour. This was owing to the giving way of the track, the water having washed away a portion of the embankment, causing the track to sink down below its original level, which was not observed by the engineer until he was upon it. The engine and five cars were thrown off the track into the river. The engineer and fireman escaped unhurt. The engine, ("Edward Jones,") which is uninjured, is one of the best on the road. She lies in the river with the water up to her footboard. A gang of men were at work all Sunday night attempting to replace her and the cars upon the track.

It was reported on Saturday that the track was overflowed at Vandebergh's Bay, at the Long Bridge between Tarrytown and Tivoli, at Germantown, Livingston's Creek, and at Schodack. The track was also inundated at East Albany, but no damage was done there. The passengers were made as comfortable as circumstances permitted. Hundreds of men were employed by the Company at fifty cents an hour, and sent to the different breaks along the road. The telegraph operators received orders to remain at their posts all night, and report to the President, the Assistant Superintendent, Mr. Cohen, and Mr. George Simpson, everything of interest.

At 12 o'clock M. on Saturday the water rose a foot over the dock at Poughkeepsie, reaching to the stoop of the Exchange Hotel, and continuing to rise. The tide would be at its full height at 2½ P. M. at that City, it yet having two hours and a half before it reached its height. Had it continued to rise until that hour, the wind still blowing southeast, the water must have reached far higher than the previous high tide, and carried everything before it. Some idea may be formed of the severity of the gale and its results when we state that a sloop, which was anchored in the river opposite Poughkeepsie, was dragged a considerable distance from her anchorage, leaking all the while. A signal of distress was given, but it was some time before assistance reached her—the river being very rough and the sloop still continuing to drag her anchor before the gale.

Such was the state of the river at 12½ P. M., when the wind veered a few points from southeast to southwest. The effect was magical. The tide rose no higher, but receded, and in a few moments the docks were above the water. The gale continued to blow southwest until late in the night, when it again changed to northwest, and continued with unabated fury in that direction until yesterday morning, when it settled to a northward breeze. This finally changed to a dead calm, and the river at 12 o'clock M. yesterday was as smooth as a sheet of glass, without a ripple on its surface.

The Oregon, Captain King, started from this City on Saturday night. The President of the Road, Mr. Sloan, aware of this, made arrangements with the Captain, previous to starting, to take all the passengers on board at Poughkeepsie, and land them at the different places between that city and Albany, and to take those who were going through to that City. She arrived at the Poughkeepsie dock about 11 o'clock, and took on board all the passengers, (482,) mails and baggage. She had a rough passage up, arriving in Albany at 10 o'clock on Sunday morning. The wind was blowing a gale from the northwest all the time, which prevented her from making more than five miles and a half an hour.

On Sunday morning the President started up the road in a special train, and arrived at Poughkeepsie at 1¾ o'clock; and only waiting in that city until Flood, the track-master, could muster a few men together, proceeded up the road. By his permission our reporter was allowed to proceed with the train and make a report of the condition of the road, which is as follows: Between Poughkeepsie and Hyde Park, part of the embankment had been washed away. Here were a part of Snyder's gang, who were just finishing filling up the embankment, which is now as firm as ever. These, to a man, willingly entered the car and proceeded up the road where their services would be most useful.

Between Hyde Park and Vandebergh's Bay, the track was washed in a few places, but is perfectly safe, and the damage could be repaired in a few hours. At the Bay the filling of the track is washed the entire distance. This is also the case at Livingstone's Creek, but the timber and ties remain firm. The former was passed over with safety, when the train proceeded to within a short distance of the creek, where a gang of men were at work upon the track, no train having passed north of this point up to yesterday morning. The men were under the orders of Mr. Cole, conductor of the Albany way freight and passenger train. The track had sunk in some places impassable to trains, though a hand-car had passed safely over to Livingstone's Creek.

We should also state that the remainder of Snyder's gang were picked up at Vandebergh's Bay, making an addition of sixteen to those already picked up near Hyde Park. Arriving at the break one-half were set to work, whilst the remainder were sent to Germantown with a gravel-train for timber.

As our reporter could not proceed beyond Livingstone's Creek we are unable to give a correct account of the state of the road beyond that point to Schodack. One end of the bridge over the creek has settled somewhat. Between the bridge and Hudson there is no trouble that we hear of.

The Hudson River train which left here at 8 A. M., yesterday, arrived at Hudson at 2 P. M., and would get through to Albany. The afternoon trains have gone through, and made connection at Albany with the Central. The trains will run to-day as usual.

THE FRESHET IN THE CONNECTICUT.

Springfield, Mass., Monday, March 21.

Heavy rains on Friday and Saturday in the Upper Connecticut Valley caused a greater flood on Saturday and Sunday than that of last Wednesday. The river here was over twenty feet above low water mark on Sunday, and over twenty-six feet at Hartford. The bridges at Charlestown and Walpole N. H., were carried off. The Sullivan Railroad bridge at Bellows Falls was damaged and rendered impassable. The flood is nearly as high as that of 1854, which was the highest ever known. All the lowlands and meadows in the valley were overflowed and many houses flooded. The water is now receding.

White River Junction, Vt., Monday, March 21.

The freshet has been unusually severe in this region. Three large highway bridges across the Connecticut River, between here and Bellows Falls, were carried off on Saturday. Some slight delay to trains has occurred on the Passumpsic, Sullivan and Northern Railroads, but there will probably be no further interruptions to travel. The river is now falling rapidly, and the ice is all out. The weather is clear and pleasant.

THE FRESHET IN THE PENOBSCOT.

Bangor, Monday, March 21—10 A. M.

The jam of ice at this place remains in the same position as last night. The weather is cold and the freshet slowly subsiding. The ice may remain as it is for some days.

A Reply to the Minority Report of Senator Sloan, on the Bill to Regulate the Rates of Wharfage.

The undersigned having been named by Senator Sloan, in the minority report of the Committee of Commerce and Navigation, as the parties appearing before the Committee "on the part of the wharf owners," herewith submit to the consideration of Senators and Members of Assembly a review of that report.

The report proceeds upon the erroneous statement that "the expense of erecting and maintaining the piers, wharves and bulkheads, is the only expense to which these proprietors have been pu —an expense which the land gained by filling is amply compensated, and in some cases vastly overbalanced." If this were so, (and it is not,) the argument is a very unsound one for the purpose of showing that a bulkhead or pier costing $30,000 or $40,000, should not produce six or seven per cent. net on its cost, and even upon its value, after payment of taxes and repairs. As well might it be urged that a person who had purchased two adjoining lots, or a farmer who had purchased two adjoining farms, should be compelled to let one of them at a nominal rent, bearing no just return for its value, because the other had proved to be a profitable purchase.

The author of that report seems to be under the impression that the wharf property and rights of wharfage are held by the City and the individual owners under some very insecure tenure, and therefore it is great presumption to ask any more rent for it than the ship-owners and the "Chamber of Commerce" may condescend to allow them. He does not seem to be aware that the land under water to the distance of 400 feet from the shore on the East and Hudson Rivers, together with the right to dock out, construct piers and bulkheads, collect wharfage, &c., were granted in fee to the City, by the thirty-eighth section of the Montgomery charter, in the year 1730, and by acts of the Legislature, of a very early date, and that the City and their grantees are fully and fairly the owners of that property, as much as he is the owner of his lot, or a farmer of his farm.

It was provided by law, in cases where the City itself did not desire to dock out, that the land under water might be granted to others, with the right to collect wharfage, giving preference, however, to the riparian owner, and all the grants which have been made by the City to individuals, have been in the nature of perpetual leases upon the payment to the City of an annual quit rent forever, which can be commuted by the payment to the City of a principal sum in gross, which will yield, at six per cent. per annum, the amount of rent payable, as above, to the City.

Upon obtaining the grant the individual built his bulkhead in front of his upland, (of which he was the owner in fee,) at a heavy expense, sometimes in water of a depth of from twenty-five to forty feet, and filled in also at heavy expense the intermediate land under water, and for his investment, and the payment by him of an annual rent forever, he naturally and justly looks for a reasonable return.

By sections 220, 221, 222 and 223 of the act of April 9, 1813, (substantially a reënactment of the act of April 3, 1798, and March 31, 1801,) the City was authorized to lay out according to the map of the City, streets or wharves fronting the Hudson and East Rivers, (Front, South and West streets,) of the width of 70 feet, and it is provided that such streets or wharves shall be made "at the expense of the proprietors of land" opposite to the wharves or streets, and that the space between such lots and the wharves shall be filled up by such proprietors at their own expense, and thereupon they shall become owners in fee of the spaces so filled up. If the proprietor failed to dock out and fill in as above provided, the City was authorized to do the work and to collect the amount expended "by distress and sale of the goods and chattels of such proprietors" or to recover the same by action, and the amount is made a lien on his other lands opposite the wharves or streets.

So it will be readily seen that if the riparian owner were unwilling to become the owner of the land under water in front, as was often the case, on account of the heavy expense involved in constructing the bulkhead and filling in, and if he should not deem it his interest to take a water grant and pay an annual rent forever, to be fixed by the City, and acquire the right of wharfage, he was compulsorily made an owner, and was compelled to pay the price by the most summary process known to the law. If wharf property was so very desirable, why was it found necessary to pass this extraordinary compulsory act.

In this manner many riparian owners were driven to take out grants from the City, as a choice of evils, whereby they became entitled to the pittance of wharfage established fifty-eight years ago.

It is not, perhaps, venturing too much to say that the worthy members of the Chamber of Commerce, who are mostly, if not all, ship-owners, and tenants of these very wharves, have received much more remunerating returns from their investments, not compulsory either, made thirty or forty years since, than the wharf owners; otherwise they would not now be, as many of them are, known as "Merchant Princes." Of course they want to occupy the premises at as cheap a rent as they can screw the owner down to. Can either of them, to day, purchase the necessaries and comforts of life at less than two hundred per cent. advance of cost of the same articles fifty-eight years ago?

By section 224 of that act the City can direct such piers extending into the river, as they please to be made in front of these wharves or streets, at the expense of the proprietors of the lots opposite, and if the proprietors neglect or refuse to make the piers, the City shall have the right to build them, and to grant the right to others, and shall receive the wharfage.

Thus, if the owner of the upland, after building the bulkhead or street at his own expense, shall neglect, when directed, to sink the piers, he is virtually deprived of a large part of the wharfage of the bulkhead necessarily occupied by the pier, and at which many of the vessels generally lie.

This sage report asserts that "this wharf property, held by private owners (it should have said forced on them) is of great value, and seldom changes hands, is rarely for sale like other real estate or leasehold property."

This pictures the dilemma of the wharf owner truly; his property is of great value, but is not appreciated by the parties opposing this bill, and it seldom changes hands, for the same reason that the man who purchased the "elephant," could not get rid of him.

Great stress is laid, in this report, upon the assumption that wharf property pays fourteen to eighteen per cent. upon the cost of construction, in contradistinction to an income upon its value. The statement is a fallacy, as must be apparent upon the statement of a few facts.

To prove this airy castle, therefore, of eighteen per cent., he takes a pier costing $30,000, and places four ships of 1,400 tons each alongside of it, (two on each side) and triumphantly tells us that the owner receives $16 per day, $4 for each ship, and he places four more ships of same tonnage (making eight in all) outside of the others at half wharfage, $8; but, in a generous mood, he calls it $4, making a total of $20 per day for 365 days, amounting to $7,260.

This estimate looks remarkably well on paper, as did the Frenchman's stock of goods, when he took it at an inflated price to make himself rich.

There is not in the port of New-York, at any one time, on an average, more than three ships of as much as 2,000 tons each, to be distributed between about 120 piers, and half as many bulkheads, and not upon an average more than a dozen ships as large as 1,400 tons in port at any one time. Such are the facts.

Again, where ships of large size occupy the piers, it is rare that any outside wharfage is earned, because the ship is kept clear for the ingress and egress of lighters unloading and loading the ship. If not kept clear, the ship-owner soon finds the power, through the Harbor Masters, to remove all vessels lying outside.

The average tonnage of vessels in port, at a liberal estimate, will not exceed 400 to 500 tons.

How desperate must be the cause requiring resort to such deceptive expedients.

Take four vessels at the pier, each of 1,500 tons, at present rate, $1 75 per vessel, is $7; and outside vessels, one-half wharfage, generally smaller vessels, and will not average as much as $3; 365 days at $10		$3,650 00
Deduct for taxes	$450 00
Deduct for repairs	1,500 00—	1,950 00
Less than six, not eighteen per cent. upon cost, as stated in the report		$1,700 00

This calculation is upon the basis of the most favored and well-located pier, and that it is fully occupied every day in the year with inside as well as outside wharfage, which is not the fact, as is well known. The ordinary run of piers do not produce net more than four or five per cent., even if so much, upon cost.

There were in the port of New-York, including Brooklyn, on the 12th day of March instant, as per shipping list of that date, 529 ships, barks, brigs and schooners, of which number 34 were of the burden of 1,000 tons and upwards, and of the latter number only 10 were of the burden of 1,500 tons and upwards, and not one of 2,000 tons. The whole coasting trade of the United States, on the Atlantic side, with the exception of New-Orleans, is done with small class vessels, as barks, brigs, schooners and sloops, and these vessels must be accommodated with berths in the business part of the city. One of the undersigned has under his charge Pier No. 17, East River, with half of No. 16 and half of No. 18, making an equivalent of two full piers, with bulk-heads between. There are now occupying berths, inside and outside, at those piers, 18 vessels, all the berths being full; of which number only one is over 1,000 tons burden, and only five are over 500 tons burden. They are enumerated as follows:

			Per day.
Ship Southampton,	pier No. 16,	1,288 tons, paying	$3 62½
Ship Atlantic,	pier No. 16,	732 tons, paying	2 25
Ship Silas Holmes,	pier No. 17,	643 tons, paying	2 00
Ship Camden,	pier No. 17,	525 tons, paying	1 75
Ship Cora Linn,	pier No. 18,	642 tons, paying	2 00

The remaining 13 vessels are of small class, from 200 tons upwards. The 18 vessels will average but 400 tons each.

These piers are in the best part of the City, where berths are always in demand, and we find that the smaller classes of vessels greatly preponderate.

It will be borne in mind that the use of lighters, to load and unload ships, has become a general thing within the past twenty years, and that a lighter pays but fifteen cents per day for outside wharfage, and twenty-five cents per day for inside; and that before such general use of lighters the ends of piers produced considerable wharfage, but no income worth mentioning is derived from that source now, as the harbor-masters keep the ends of piers clear to admit of the free ingress and egress of lighters to accommodate the ships loading or unloading by horse-power upon the pier, which has only been introduced during the past ten or fifteen years.

A ship of 2,000 tons, ladened, will draw about 23 feet; 1,250 tons about 20 feet; that depth of water can be found at but few piers, and that only at full high tide. To maintain that depth of water frequent dredging, at immense expense and loss of wharfage, becomes necessary.

Thus at every step of the increase of the tonnage of vessels the wharf-owner has been subjected to a corresponding increase of loss and expense.

It is believed the report has done great injustice to the Chamber of Commerce in giving the mere assertions of a few men as an argument emanating from that body. It can hardly be true that a body so intelligent would assert that the length of a vessel should alone govern the rate of wharfage, having no reference either to its depth or width, when in fact every wharf and ship-owner knows that the vast expense of constructing docks in deep water and dredging out slips is chargeable entirely to large vessels.

The attempt to deprive the owner of a fair return upon the value of his property, (and it is virtually admitted by the report that he does not receive such return,) is not based upon justice or sound reasoning. Shall an owner of a house and lot on Broadway, which cost him $15,000 twenty years ago, be confined to a rent of seven per cent. upon that cost, when they are now worth $30,000?

There is no species of property so expensive to maintain as wharves and piers; they decay rapidly, especially between high and low water mark, the timber is eaten and destroyed by worms, floating ice often proves damaging and sometimes destructive; they are frequently overladened and settle; the planking is being constantly worn; indeed, decay, depreciation and burdensome expenses, to say nothing of dredging, are synonymous with wharf property.

The author of the report felt the difficulty of maintaining by reason that the income should be controlled by the cost, and not by the value of wharf property, for he alleges that the value of $5,823,000 placed by the Comptroller of the City of New-York upon the wharf property belonging to the Corporation is "an arbitrary value." Such is not the fact; that value was arrived at by taking the annual value placed by sworn assessors upon like wharf property owned by individuals, and upon which assessed value annual taxes were paid. The value thus fixed is below the actual value, as it is not usual in this City, nor in any part of the State, to assess the full value of property.

But we will furnish a sure criterion of value by R. B. Minturn, Esq., one of the five gentlemen named in the report, appearing before the Committee "on the part of the Chamber of Commerce and as ship-owners."

This firm of Grinnell, Minturn & Co., took a lease from the corporation of the westerly half of Pier No. 19, foot of Maiden-lane, East River, for the sum of $7,200 and repairs, and they now hold it upon those terms. The Corporation, as they were authorized by the act of 16th of April, 1830, gave them the exclusive use of that half of the pier, so that no vessel could be permitted to occupy it other than their own vessels, and such others as they hired or sub-let to. In other words, they acquired the same right to control and let that half of the pier, at such prices as they could obtain, in the like manner as they would use or let their own store or any other building. All restraint of law was removed; they could admit or reject such vessels as they pleased, and charge such prices as they could obtain. They recently received for the wharfage of the ship Hurricane, at this pier, $10 per day. She is about 1,600 tons, on which the legal rate of wharfage was $4 50 per day. The owners would not have agreed to pay the $10 per day unless the use of the berth was of that value. No law controlled the price; one party asked a fair price, and the other agreed to pay, and did pay it. Again, the ship Kathay, of about 1,400 tons, (not belonging to them,) laid at this pier of exclusive privilege, and paid $10 per day wharfage—legal rate only $4. We can prove that they have offered berths at that pier at $10 per day per ship. That is their price.

Now look upon the other side of the picture.

The easterly half of this same pier, in all respects as desirable as the other half, belongs to private owners, who have not been favored with any exclusive privilege or control of their own property, but have been limited to the legal rates; they have received for their half not to exceed $2,000 per annum gross wharfage, out of which they have to pay taxes, repairs, reconstruction, and dredging.

Do these glaring facts need one word of comment? Do they not prove that this pier, 450 feet long, will produce, by voluntary payments of ship-owners, if the law did not arbitrarily and unjustly limit the owners, an annual income of $14,400, less the taxes and free from repairs?

By the present bill they ask less than $8,000 for the entire pier, out of which all repairs, taxes, and other expenses, will have to be defrayed.

Is it to be supposed that Messrs. Grinnell, Minturn & Co., sagacious merchants, voluntarily hired the half of this pier at a price less than it was worth to them?

Many instances of this kind can be produced to show the actual value of wharf property, and to practically illustrate what in fact is a reasonable and proper rate of wharfage.

It is not true that the small increase of wharfage "will affect the produce of the country," by a corresponding increase in freights, either by coasting or foreign vessels.

Mr. Tileston, whose firm pays $9,000 a year for the exclusive use of a pier for their vessels, will take produce on freight on equally as good terms as the ship-owner who ships his at the adjoining pier, and who only pays the legal rates of wharfage, under the law of 1801. Messrs. Grinnell, Minturn & Co., who pay for the half of a pier $7,200, and for the half of the adjoining pier $5,900, together making $13,100 for the exclusive use of the half of these two piers, these gentlemen will take freight on equally good terms with their neighbor, whose ship lies on the opposite side of the same pier at only legal rates of wharfage. We might cite Mr. Charles H. Marshall, who pays $2,250 for a single berth, a sum equal to the half of the revenue of the entire pier, with others, also, who pay prices greatly in excess of the legal rates for leases of piers, as evidence that no addition of freight is asked or obtained by reason of the high prices paid for these privileges. As justly might it be said that a ship, not insured, which had had her bowsprit or her masts carried away, would not take freight on equally good terms with one which had been more fortunate and escaped such a disaster.

The trade of New-York and Brooklyn is attributable to their geographical position, and to their connection with the fruitful West, by its canal and its rivers, not so much because of the trifling tax which is imposed on the interchange and transit of its products in the port of New-York.

One of the main points in the report is found in the statement that an increase of wharage would be an innovation on the policy of the State. As though it was, and should ever remain, the policy of the State, to depress and keep down the value of one kind of property, that another kind might derive a benefit, and in this case to depress the real property of the State, which pays taxes for the support of both the City and State Governments, that another kind of property, owned by all the commercial States of the world, and paying nothing directly for the support of Government, might grow rich by paying no increase upon what the Committee acknowledge to be but a "trifling tax upon shipping."

The report suggests a "careful consideration" of the Harbor Commissioners' report for 1857. We fully concur in the suggestion, and commend the careful consideration of the testimony taken by that Commission of disinterested witnesses, and which is appended to the report.

An equally unfair mode of computation has been resorted to for the purpose of showing that the Corporation derive fourteen per cent. upon the cost of their wharf property.

It is stated in the report that the Corporation derive from wharf property, costing $1,808,693, the sum of (see appendix A)	$260,100
Included in this amount of $260,100, is the sum of $99,300 for Ferry franchises to Ferries between New-York and Long Island, Staten Island and New-Jersey, of which a statement is hereto annexed	99,300
	$160,800
Exclusive privileges granted, ($99,980, (as per annexed statement,) from which should be deducted the regular rate of wharfage, say 30 per cent., $29,994	69,986
	$90,814

Leaving less than five per cent., instead of fourteen per cent., as is vauntingly asserted, and not two per cent. upon the value.

It will be borne in mind that the ferry franchise, i. e., the grant of the right to run ferries, was conferred upon the City by the Montgomery Charter, and is no more wharfage than is a bonus paid by a City railroad for the right of running cars. There should be added to the receipt of wharfage by the City, say the sum of $20,000, by way of wharfage for the ferry slips, and that amount should be deducted from the amount paid for the franchises.

It is quite proper to deduct the amount over regular wharfage paid to the Corporation for exclusive privileges, as private owners have no such rights conferred upon them by the Legislature, and none of the emoluments derived from that source.

It will be noticed by the annexed statement, that Charles H. Marshall, Esq., one of the said five gentlemen appearing on behalf of the Chamber of Commerce, pays for one berth the sum of $2,250 per annum, a larger sum than the entire gross product of the easterly side of said Pier No. 19.

Thus he pays $6 16 per day for one berth; the present legal rate of wharfage per day on a vessel of 1,000 tons is $3, upon 1,500 tons, $4 25.

It is alleged that the wharves are "subject to the public use as regulated by law." That is so, and here is the precise difficulty; the regulation is imperfect, and we ask that it be amended. Wharf owners occupy the same position with reference to the public as do railroad companies; they are for the public use, but the public should pay a fair price for that use. As well might the Legislature require railroad companies to carry passengers and freight for three per cent. as to compel owners of wharves to accommodate the shipping for the present pittance of rates.

The report asserts that "wharf accommodation can be procured, and is freely offered by proprietors of wharves in the upper part of the City, for one-half the rates allowed by law." If that be so, then the passage of the Act increasing wharfage will be harmless to the ship owner; he will still be free to avail himself of "wharf accommodation" at the cheap rates offered. It is not proposed to pass any law restraining him from the acceptance of such liberal offers.

The report admits that higher rates of wharfage are paid in other places, but that it is charged on the cargo, and not on the ship. This is so in some cases. The principle of remuneration is the same, and that is the only question at issue.

The patriotic solicitude of some gentlemen claiming to represent the Chamber of Commerce for the preservation of the prosperity of the State and its commerce in general, and themselves in particular, with which the report abounds, will no doubt be duly appreciated, and needs no comment from us.

The report shows the increase of foreign tonnage from 1830 to 1858 to be a little over 400 per cent. It will also be borne in mind, that the growth of the City along the East and North Rivers during that period of twenty-eight years has been rapid, and that wharves and piers have been built with the growth of the City. In 1830 there was hardly a bulkhead or pier in the Seventh Ward; now that Ward can present as many as any other seaboard Ward. Most of the large piers on the East River, south of the Seventh Ward, and most of the large piers on the North River, and nearly all of those in Brooklyn, have been built and extended since 1830, so that the increase of wharves and piers (which in most cases have been compulsory upon the owners) has kept pace with the increase of tonnage, and no one pier or wharf has been greatly benefited by the increase of tonnage; as the tenants have increased, so have the places for their accommodation increased.

Great stress is laid in the report upon the assertion that no provision is made in this bill requiring the owners to repair and improve the condition of the wharves.

By section 236 of the said act of 1813 that power was given to the Common Council, and by section 11 of the Pilot Commissioners' act of 1858 power was given to those Commissioners to require the public piers and bulkheads in New-York and Brooklyn to be kept "clean and in good repair." We are under the impression that all of the aforesaid Pilot Commissioners are members of the Chamber of Commerce, and one of them, Charles H. Marshall, Esq., is referred to in the report evidently as one of the main pillars supporting the objection set forth in the report.

It would appear unnecessary to pass a duplicate of an existing law now in full force.

By the requirements of the same Pilot Commissioners' act, the expense of dredging is increased one hundred per cent, but it would be highly improper to allow an increase of wharfage, as it should be the duty and pleasure of the wharf-owner to work for and serve the ship-owner free of charge.

Most of the slips require dredging. There are many bulkheads in this City where the depth of water has been reduced from 30 and 35 feet in the year 1830, to a depth of only 8, 10, 12 and 14 feet, from the deposit of the streets and tides, and from coal ashes, ballast and refuse from steamboats and vessels, carelessly lost and thrown overboard.

We might enlarge upon the points under consideration, but enough is stated to convince an impartial reader of the erroneous statements contained in the report, and the consequent injustice done to wharf-owners. We respectfully request a careful examination of this review, together with the Senate Report No. 76, in the confident belief that such an examination will secure your favorable coöperation on the bill now pending before the Legislature "To regulate the rates of Wharfage."

HOBART FORD,
STEPHEN A. FROST.

APPENDIX A.

Cost of piers, as claimed in the report		$1,808,693
Valuation, or estimated to be worth, as stated		5,823,000
Income $260,100—about 14 per cent. on $1,808,693.		$260,100
Deduct the several leases to Ferry Companies, which is not properly "wharfage," but a franchise, (seven in number,)		99,300
From this balance		$160,800
Deduct lease to Collins' line steamers	$5,500
Deduct U. S. Mail Steamship Company	5,280
Deduct H. B. Cromwell's line steamers	8,400
Deduct J. Y. Sandford's line	3,200

Deduct New-York Balance Dock	2,600
Deduct N. Y. & Erie Dry Dock Co.	3,000
Deduct Flushing steamboats	2,900
Deduct Hartford and N. Haven steamb'ts.	5,100

Deduct Grinnell, Minturn & Co.	13,100
Deduct M. Livingston	4,000
Deduct Dunham & Sturgess	3,300
Deduct Buckly & Wardwell	3,150—	$99,980
Total		$60,820

It thus appears that for all the remaining piers belonging to the City, (about two-thirds in number,) only $60,820 is received for wharfage—not two per cent. on their value.

J.—The undersigned having become proprietor of this first-class fashionable Summer hotel, would inform his former patrons and the public generally that it is now undergoing thorough repair and improvement, and will be open for the reception of guests on the 1st of May. To those who have not visited this beautiful locality he would state that the La Tourette House is eligibly situated on the banks of the Kill Von Kull, in the immediate vicinity of Newark Bay, with a fine water front, good bathing, boating, fishing, &c. Steamers and sailing-vessels of every description are constantly passing and repassing, and, as viewed from the balconies and shaded walks around the hotel, form a picturesque and moving panorama of rare loveliness. The hotel is of modern construction, built on an extensive scale, with accommodation for about four hundred guests. It is surrounded by trees of mature growth, and the large grounds around laid out with an eye to comfort as well as beauty, with fine play-grounds, &c., for children. At a convenient distance are billiard and bowling rooms, for the accommodation of those fond of that healthy exercise. Connected with the hotel-grounds are seventeen acres of highly-cultivated land, for gardening purposes, &c., which produce vegetables and luxuries for the exclusive use of the hotel. The location of the La Tourette House, its accessibility to New-York, make it particularly desirable to those whose pursuits call them to the great metropolis. By a new arrangement made with the New-Jersey Central Railroad Company, their spacious boats, the Red Jacket and Wyoming, stop at this point. Leaving Pier No. 2 North River at convenient hours, they land at Bergen Point in only thirty-five minutes from New-York. From Jersey City a plank road extends directly to the hotel, forming a beautiful drive of eight miles, two-thirds of the distance having in continual view the Bay of New York, with all its surrounding scenery. Connected with the hotel are good stable accommodations, and pleasant drives in the vicinity. The combined attractions of the La Tourette House render it one of the most pleasant Summer resorts in the country. CAUTION.—TO WATCH DEALERS AND JEWELERS.—New-York, March, 1859.—I. & M. T. LEVITT, London, England, and No. 19 Maiden-lane, New-York, chronometer and watch manufacturers, hereby inform the trade that certain of the plain watches and movements of their own make, bearing their names and that of Morris Tobias, No. 31 Minories, London, imported into this country previously to the establishment of their agency, No. 19 Maiden-lane, under the management of J. H. BRADBURY, have been jeweled in this City in aqua marine stones, contrary to the principles on which their fine movements and first-class watches have heretofore been constructed, such alterations being not alone injurious to the durability of the watches by reason of the softness of the aqua marines, but calculated to impair the faith of purchasers of these goods whose reliance has been uniformly placed on their quality. In order therefore that there may be no mistaking the genuine movements, purchasers will find on examination that all watches and movements finished at their manufactory in London, England, are jeweled in Rubies and Chrysolites only, and for future protection the certificate which accompanies each watch or movement will be countersigned by their sole agent, J. H. BRADBURY.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

The Mexican mail brings us our usual letter from the capital, which, while it still gives the latest news from that point, should have reached us a fortnight ago. Our dates from Vera Cruz are, therefore, nearly three weeks later, and, in a measure, supersede the intelligence supplied by our correspondent. The imposition of the forced loan at the City of Mexico, at San Luis Potosi, and at other points, had been attended with circumstances of outrage to foreign residents so atrocious as to excite general indignation, but not enough so to disturb the inactivity of the French and British ministers. The American Consul at the capital, Mr. Black, had, however, recorded a protest, which had received no notice. At Tepic, an English merchant had been constrained to make a heavy contribution immediately before the arrival of a British man-of-war in the harbor. The commander at once demanding a return of the money, under the alternative of a bombardment, the money was returned. The intelligence that, upon March 4, a large detachment of Gen. Miramon's army had been beaten near Cordova by the Liberals, is confirmed by authentic dispatches. The President, with the relics of his force, was said to be in retreat toward the capital, where he was not likely to arrive before the northern Liberals, who, with large armies, were within two days march of the city.

It has at last been definitely decided that there is to be no extra session of Congress. Word to that effect was telegraphed to this City yesterday morning, in time for the California steamer. What the method of procedure is to be in reference to the heavy deficiency in the Post-office Department, does not yet appear.

The Legislature did very little of importance yesterday. In the Senate, the bill to charter the New-York Observatory was reported favorably. The bill to empower the Courts of Sessions to extend their terms was passed. Mr. Wetmore's claim to a seat from the Eleventh District was referred to a special Committee. The Registry Law bill will be considered to-day. In the Assembly, the Canal Appropriation bill was gone through with in Committee of the Whole. The Personal Liberty bill was made the special order for to-day.

The struggle of Wharf owners for an increase in the rates of wharfage has been renewed in the Legislature, and a report has been made in the Senate by Mr. Sloan against the measure. A reply to this document will be found on our second page this morning. It is prepared and published in the interest of the parties concerned, who have embodied in it a strong statement of the reasons for an increase of the present rates.

The Overland California Mail which left San Francisco on the 25th ult. has arrived at St. Louis. Much dissatisfaction at the defeat of the Pacific Railroad bill is reported. Business was quiet, and the miners were doing well.

The trouble with the Camanches has finally resolved itself into a war. Two fights have recently occurred between parties of our troops and these Indians. The first occurred near Fort Arbuckle, in which fifty troops and fifty friendly Indians engaged a large party of them, with trifling loss on either side, and the second took place near the same locality, fifty troops being engaged. In the latter affair eight of the Camanches were killed.

The flood in the Connecticut River has been very high, the stream rising 20 feet above low-water mark. In New-Hampshire, the bridges at Charlestown and Walpole have been washed away. The Sullivan Railroad bridge at Bellows Falls, Vt., is so badly damaged as to be impassable. The ice in Penobscot River has broken up and is piled in large masses at Bangor. The freshet in that quarter is slowly subsiding.

A duel was fought in Jefferson City, La., March 11, between Messrs. Emile Hiriart and Edward Locquet, of New-Orleans, which resulted in the death of Mr. Locquet. The weapons were shotguns, and the victim was shot through the body on the first fire.

The Treasurer of Dubuque County, Iowa—one O'Brien—has defaulted to the amount of $108,000. One of his operations was the sale of Dubuque Bonds in this City for 40 cents on the dollar above the amount he paid over; $8,000 being his profit on that transaction.

The frigate Lancaster, now under construction in the Philadelphia Navy-yard, will be ready for her trial-trip in a week. She will probably be the flag-ship of the Pacific Squadron. The sloops-of-war at the same yard are making slow progress.

An order for the sale of Antioch College has been issued by the United States District Court at Cincinnati, at the suit of the Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Company, for the foreclosure of a mortgage for $27,361 17, principal and interest. The mortgage was given in 1853.

The Governor of New-Jersey has offered a reward of $500 for the arrest of the Rev. J. S. Harden, who is charged with the murder of his wife at Andersontown, N. J.

The ship David Stewart, of Baltimore, having on board the Neapolitan political prisoners bound from Cadiz to the United States, has put into Queenstown, Ireland, she having been passed on the 8th inst., by the steamship Weser, bound to that port. Should these exiles land in British territory, it is presumed that they will proceed to Sardinia, whose Government has proffered them its hospitality.

The case of the alleged slave-bark Laurens, at New-London, Conn., has been decided by the U. S. District Court. The evidence is declared not to be sufficient to prove her a slaver, though the circumstances justified the Collector of New-London in making the seizure.

At the meeting of the Board of Supervisors yesterday, a communication was received from the Receiver of Taxes setting forth the condition of the Tax Lists. The Board adopted a resolution directing the President to apply to the Legislature for an additional appropriation of $20,000 in the Tax Levy for the new county jail. The Committee on Printing and Stationery was directed to inquire if any of the judgments against the City in the Tax Levy do not properly belong to the county. The Board meets again next Monday.

The Board of Aldermen perseveres in its purpose of keeping Mr. Morton in possession of the City Inspectorship. Last night the Mayor sent in a letter from Dr. Foster withdrawing his name, and nominated E. F. Purdy in his place; but the Board of Aldermen found it convenient to have no quorum. Mr. Purdy has ability and integrity, and would perform the duties of the office as well as any person who has no special fitness for the place. Political reasons cannot prevent his confirmation, as he is of the same party as the majority of the Board. Their refusal to confirm him will, therefore, indicate a participation in the corruptions and abuses of the office under its present management.

In the Board of Councilmen, last evening, a resolution was adopted requesting the Mayor to convene the Board of Health at as early a day as practicable, as the condition of the streets, and other matters affecting the sanitary condition of the City, made this step absolutely necessary. The Mayor sent in a communication stating that the streets had been cleaned, thus far, the present year, by the Superintendent of Sanitary Inspection, and that it had been done at a cost of $27,071 49. The report of the Special Committee on Repairing the City Hall was laid on the table.

The Twelfth Regiment, (Independence Guard,) under command of Lieut.-Col. Weeks, will proceed to-morrow afternoon to Albany by the steamer New-World. They go up for the purpose of being reviewed by the Governor, and also, it is understood, to remonstrate against an order merging them with the Tenth Regiment.

A lecture, entitled "The Executive of Utah," was delivered last night, in the Hall of the Historical Society, by Col. Thomas L. Kane, before a respectable audience. It was chiefly a narrative of the journey of Gov. Cumming to Salt Lake City, and a panegyric on that officer for his labors and services in the position to which he had then been called.

The Hon. Joshua R. Giddings last evening, at Clinton Hall, lectured before the Young Men's Christian Union. His theme was, "The higher law, the only proper basis of human government," and he was listened to with great attention.

The "Stephens Wife Poisoning Case," as it is called, begins to show some signs of drawing to a close by the end of the present week. Yesterday counsel for defense finished their case by the examination of Drs. Finnell, James R. Wood and Alonzo Clarke. To-day the prosecution will commence their rebutting testimony. After which will come, in due course, the summing up of counsel on both sides and the judicial charge. Judging by the crowd in attendance, the case has lost none of its interest.

The trial of the action of Molony vs. Dows, for assault and battery commenced in the Common Pleas yesterday. The case arises out of the action of the late "Vigilance Committee" in San Francisco. Defendant was Treasurer of the Committee. Plaintiff being expelled from the State by this Committee seeks redress in this action. The case will doubtless involve some new and interesting points in Constitutional law.

Yesterday, 5,000 bales of Cotton, chiefly in transitu, found buyers at full prices. The first receipts of Produce by the Hudson River boats, this season, have added, since our last, very considerably to the available supplies of Flour, which commodity has been in fair demand at uniform rates. A moderate business has been transacted in Grain, Coffee, Molasses, Provisions, Hay, Hops, Oils and Tallow. Sugar and Rice have been in lively request. The freight engagements were rather limited.

How Railways Flourish or Fail.

If the current values of railway property on the exchanges of the United States are to be taken as the final test of success or failure in railway enterprise, we must make up our minds to go back to the days of the stage-coach and the canal-boat. If these vast investments which have absorbed so much of the capital, and employed so much of the capacity of the country during the last twenty years, are really sunken so low that, as in the case for instance of the great Erie line, their substantial worth to-day is but one tenth of their original amount, then it is clear that we must not expect involuntary philanthropy to supply us forever with the magnificent conveniences which have literally quintupled our resources. Railway-building and railway-management are, after all, matters of business, and if railways are really the hopeless things our brokers would have us believe them, then railways must come to an end. The simple statement of this proposition is, however, sufficient to refute it. We know, all of us, that the world can no more go back to post-roads and turnpikes than to chain-armor and treadmills. Railways are a vital part of modern civilization, and therefore they are capable of being made, and will be made, a prosperous and profitable part—not merely the causes of prosperity and profit to others, but in themselves both prosperous and profitable. And therefore, again, the efforts which any man, or class of men, may make to decry the future by depressing the present of railway interests, are really attacks upon society at large, and acts of disloyalty to the public welfare.

Our railway system in America has grown up, like the railway system of England, under the sudden stimulus of a vast demand. The wants of a whole country had to be met, not gradually, but suddenly; and in meeting them both capital and enterprise were naturally expended with less regard to permanent necessities than to immediate effects. The rush of railway building in England trebled the lines of that country in six years, from 1843 to 1849. In this country the like rush produced the like result at a later day, and trebled our roads between 1850 and 1856. During her fever, England lavished her money madly, and paid for it bitterly in subsequent experience. The real expense of her roads, as in the instance of the Liverpool line, commonly trebled the estimates, frauds of all sorts were perpetrated, and a new race of rascals created in providing her with the splendid system she now enjoys. The traffic receipts of English lines, averaging, from 1844 to 1847, £3,200 per mile, sank in 1850 and '57 to £2,100, and the average interest on stock from six and seven to two and one per cent. But economy in management, a just regard to the demands of way traffic, improvements in working, have since been restoring these enterprises to health, raising their receipts, and bringing them to a fair percentage of profit; and though much still remains to be done, nobody now dreams in England of treating railway property as if it were a calamity and not a blessing to the country. In America we are in the dawn of the like recovery. Roads which, but three or four years ago, were given over for lost, have since, by careful supervision, been gradually raised to life, and their permanent worth demonstrated beyond a peradventure. Such, for instance, are the Harlem and Hudson Roads, of this State. The Hudson River Road is a case specially in point. This road has a double rivalry to contend with. It is the competitor not merely of other roads, but of a river, large and navigable throughout its entire length. It has suffered like its brethren. Yet what have economy and good judgment done for it? During the last year of universal depression the earnings of this line not only paid the interest on its debts, and its current expenses, but enabled the management to adopt great improvements in the road and running stock, by one of which alone, the introduction of engines burning the Cumberland bituminous coal a saving of sixty per cent. in fuel was effected; and during the last six months these earnings have increased so as to insure for the current year an increase equal to a payment of seven per cent. on the capital stock of $3,700,000. What has been done for the Hudson road can be done for any road which traverses any rich and growing section of this rich and growing country. Nothing can be more easily established than this statement. Would the public, whose prosperity is now indissolubly bound up with that of these great arteries, but take this question up, in every case, on its own merits, and enable the leaders of railway reform to do their work, we should soon see, not only a wholesome revival of the vast property embarked in these enterprises, but a thorough defeat and destruction of the knots of speculators who are now playing fast and loose with the financial good of the country, and with the serious interests of all classes among us—the active and the sedentary, the holders of wealth and its makers, the rich and the poor alike.

Anarchy in New-Jersey.

The exact length to which misgovernment and revolution may be permitted to go in a State, before the intervention of neighboring powers for the restoration of order becomes justifiable, is a question we leave to such shrewd casuists as Secretary Cass. Wherever the nice boundary may be, New-Jersey is certainly not far distant from it. The several departments of the Government which is supposed to control the destinies of that majestic commonwealth have fallen shamefully by the ears, each claiming powers which the others deny to it; and, the Executive excepted, all bidding saucy defiance to that silent monitor the Constitution, whose guidance was never more imperatively needed. What with the wrongs New-York has suffered on the score of Sandy Hook, and the prejudice we cannot else than sustain from the proximity to our frontiers of lawlessness so flagrant and exemplary, it is evident that the time cannot be far distant when we shall be called, for self-protection, to occupy some of the northern counties of the State—the Hook of course included—with a few light brigades of our gallant militia, and to admonish the contending factions that, without a prompt cessation of their anarchical misconduct, it will become necessary to erect a protectorate, and administer for them the disputed authority of the State. The case of Mexico is no precedent, if it point not to this unfortunate solution. It will become a duty, inculcated by every consideration of inter-State comity, to interpose in order that New-Jersey may be saved from self-destruction. The fields of Monmouth and of Trenton must be fought over again.

The immediate cause of contention seems to be, that whereas the Opposition has a decided majority in the House of Assembly, in the Senate the Administration has just sufficient advantage to block the legislative wheels. Gov. Newell, an ardent antagonist of the Administration, is equally the object of Democratic stubbornness, insomuch that the Senate really wields the veto power, and that so stringently as very nearly to derange and pervert the several functions of Government. Thus, in the exercise of the appointing faculty, the Executive has been persistently defeated. The Chancellor of the State, Mr. Benjamin Williamson, is a consistent member of the Democratic Party, whose zeal has not always taken due care of his office and his person; who, in fact, has now and again condescended to mix unbecomingly in the petty skirmishing of election times, and some little, they do say, in the dirty work incident to those occasions. The Governor, sustained by the united opposition, proposed that at the approaching close of his official term the Chancellor shall be allowed to retire to that privacy which shall leave larger play for his political propensities. The Democrats insist that he shall be reappointed; and the Senate accordingly declines to ratify any of the names which the Governor has nominated, one after the other, as his successor. The obvious purport of this action is, that the Senate arrogates the appointing power, which the Constitution gave to the Executive; an assumption, which we rejoice to perceive, the Governor is resolutely determined to repel.

In regard to the Assembly the action of the Senate has been similarly factious and disgraceful. It was only on Thursday—Friday being the anticipated close of the session—that that body consented to go into joint-meeting for the election,—not of all the officers who are to be elected—but of a chosen few whom they thought proper to designate. The fruit of this reluctant concession to Constitutional requirements we gave yesterday. Mr. John C. Ten Eyck, of Burlington County, has been worthily chosen United States Senator in the place of the Hon. William Wright, having obtained a majority of eight over Ex-Governor Vroom, the Democratic nominee. The other nominations of the opposition caucus were also successful, thus effectually punishing the fillibusterism of their antagonists, and disappointing the absurd expectations of those who counted upon the instability of the opposition organization as a means of eventually insuring its defeat.

The lesson taught by the result of last evening's contest will, we trust, exhibit itself in the behavior of the contumacious Senate in regard to the Chancellorship. If Mr. A. O. Zabriskie, the very competent gentleman selected by the Executive for the office of Chancellor be confirmed, that body will be relieved of the shame of persisting in a revolutionary course, after its uselessness even for mischief has been demonstrated. By no possible action of any party save the Governor can Mr. Williamson retain his position: and Governor Newell has signified his final resolution not to reappoint him. Let us hope that the Senators will at last see the subject in this light; and so save what relics of respect there may be due them after the scenes of this disgraceful session; and at the same time save the State from the impending necessity of a foreign occupation and protectorate.

Whitewashing by Telegraph.—On the 10th instant the following telegram was sent from Madison, Wisconsin, to all Eastern papers:

"The Legislative Committee, consisting of three Republicans and two Democrats, appointed at the request of Ex-Governor Bashford to "investigate the charges of corruption preferred against him in connection with the disposition of the land grant to the LaCrosse Railroad Company, have made a unanimous report fully exonerating him, and justifying his official conduct as being highly honorable, and in the opinion of the Committee directed solely to the promotion of the best interests of the State."

A few days later the mails brought the report itself, of which the following is the material portion:

"Your Committee have adopted as part of the testimony of this case all the evidence taken before the Investigating Committee of last Winter having a bearing upon the matter of this reference, and after a full and careful consideration of such testimony, your Committee are unanimously of the opinion that the fifty bonds referred to in the report of the previous Investigating Committee of last Winter were received by Gov. Bashford as a gratuity from the La Crosse Company after the grant had been disposed of, and without any previous understanding that he was to receive the same or any favor whatever from said Company; but your Committee strongly disapprove of the acceptance by Gov. Bashford of said gratuity, or of any public officer receiving any favors from those having business relations of an official character with them. The Committee, however, believe it due to Gov. Bashford to say that they cannot find that he was influenced in his official action in the disposal of the grant by any favor from the La Crosse Company, nor do they believe that he ever intended it should influence his action in the discharge of his official duties."

A comparison of the statement by telegraph in which Governor Bashford's conduct is not only "exonerated" and "justified," but pronounced "highly honorable," with what the Committee really said, may show why the dispatch was sent in advance of the report. The statement made by the Committee is one of which the Ex-Governor's friends cannot be supposed to feel proud. Evidently they thought they could make a better one themselves, and they did it, by telegraph. The Committee, though disposed to treat Governor Bashford with tender consideration, did by no means certify his conduct as being "honorable." On the contrary, they "strongly disapproved" of it. The telegram is a deliberate misrepresentation.

The facts, as reported, are that Bashford, while Governor, did what the La Crosse Railroad Company required of him in the disposal of their land grant, and after that service was performed to the entire satisfaction of the immaculate Corporation aforesaid, he received and accepted a present of fifty of their thousand-dollar Bonds. This tells the whole story.

Who are Non-Residents?

The Superior Court of this City have not long since, at their general term, decided a case of very considerable interest to our mercantile community. The question was, substantially, whether an attachment may issue against the property within this State of a merchant who does business in New-York, has a store here, keeps his bank-account here, attends in person upon his business during the days and hours usually appropriated to business, but whose family dwell in another State, and who makes his home with them.

In the case to which we refer (that of Chaine vs. Wilson) attachments were obtained by several creditors of Mr. Lewis A. Wilson on the ground that he was a non-resident of the State. These attachments were levied upon his property. He moved to discharge them, contending that in truth he was a resident of New-York, and therefore not liable to attachment.

In support of this claim he alleged the following facts: That in 1846 he resumed business in New-York City (he had retired some time previous) but continued for ten years to reside in Norwalk, Connecticut. In 1856 he resolved to become a permanent resident of the City of New-York. He accordingly conveyed to one of his sons, Oliver, who had then lately attained his majority, all his property in Norwalk—a farm and personal property connected with it; and Oliver thereafter occupied them as his own. Up to that time Mr. Wilson, with his wife and youngest child, (about seven years of age,) had resided on the Norwalk homestead, thus conveyed to Oliver. But thereafter he occupied rooms in this City—a part of the time at the Astor House, in New-York, and afterwards at the St. Nicholas; though his wife and child spent a great part of the time with Oliver at Norwalk. Mr. Wilson himself spent most of the time in this City; usually going to Norwalk on Saturday and remaining over until Monday, and sometimes, though not often, going out on Wednesday and returning the next day. There was one period of several months which, owing to sickness, they all spent at Norwalk. All this time Mr. Wilson was carrying on business in this City.

It will be easily seen that these circumstances made the case somewhat stronger in behalf of defendant than if he had had his only home out of the State, and had regularly gone home at night, and returned to business again in the morning. The Court hold, however, that Mr. Wilson was a non-resident, and, as such, liable to have attachments issued against his property.

They declare the law to be that the right of a creditor to attach the property of a debtor on the ground of non-residence, does not depend on the question whether it is practicable to serve a summons on the debtor within this State. A man may be in town and at his stores every day and all day, so that it is as easy to commence an action against him by serving a summons as if he lived in the City; yet this will not deprive the creditor of his right to an attachment, if the debtor's home is out of the State. The carrying on a mercantile business in this City and staying within our limits for the purposes of business during all the hours usually devoted to business here, do not alone constitute "residence." Although a man's absence from his family be for eight hours in each day, and six days in each week, yet, if he has a family living in a neighboring State for whom he provides, to whom he resorts for comfort, relaxation and repose, and with whom he abides whenever the immediate demands of his business upon his attention will permit, whenever sickness disables him from conducting that business, and when those days successively return on which business ceases and man rests from his labors, he resides in the neighboring State. There, in every proper sense of the word, is his "home."

In respect to the peculiar circumstances of Mr. Wilson's case, the Court hold that they are not enough to show a change of residence. He was confessedly a resident of Connecticut down to 1856. It did not appear from the circumstances which we have briefly narrated above that he had actually and completely carried into effect his alleged intention of removing his residence to this City. Until he had, in fact, removed as well as formed an intention to remove, he continued liable to attachment.

The law upon this subject has been involved in some uncertainty, the course of decision in the other Court having been somewhat conflicting. Should the view taken in the Superior Court be finally adopted throughout all our Courts, merchants in our City, who may be selecting a country residence, will find in the rule of law thus adopted an additional reason for choosing a home within the borders of this State.

No Extra Session.—A dispatch from Washington would seem to settle the question of an Extra Session. There will be none. The President and the new Postmaster-General found themselves outvoted in Cabinet meeting, the division being six to two. In General Jackson's time the President counted for more than one on such occasions; but things have changed, and perhaps it is as well, when it is considered what sort of Presidents these latter days produce.

The question of a called session has been decided, as most public matters are, on purely party grounds. How the Government can get on till December, no man undertakes to say. That it cannot do so without the assumption of unwarranted powers is abundantly evident. But the Cabinet feared the effect of an extra session upon the fortunes of their party; and for that reason overbore the President's purpose to call Congress together. Buchanan himself may be regarded as feeling little personal interest in the future of the Democracy, and consequently he was desirous to consult the exigencies of the public service by endeavoring to supply the omitted Post-office appropriation. But in this design he could get the support of Judge Holt alone, who is mainly a business man, and scarcely a politician at all. The other six gentlemen, each of whom will be considerably surprised if not nominated for President in 1860, were frightened at the bare idea of an extra session, with its traditional character for damaging the party calling it.

But Mr. Buchanan is constitutionally unstable, and may change his mind under pressure. That circumstances will press him sorely is very certain, and it need excite no surprise should the whole question be reopened, and the present decision reversed. The causes which made an extra session seem inevitable remain, and will certainly lose none of their force by the lapse of time. It may well be, therefore, that the Cabinet have only postponed the evil day, and that the frightful called session may yet stare them in the face.

The Case of Mr. Lamar and the Wanderer.

New-York, Monday, March 21, 1859.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

In your paper of this morning was an editorial in regard to Mr. Charles L. A. Lamar, in Savannah, expressed in terms by no means justifiable by the occasion. You and he may differ in opinion in regard to the Slave-trade, and you and the community in which he lives do differ very widely in regard to his conduct at the sale of the Wanderer—else, after knocking his opponent down, he would not have been compelled, as he was, to interfere and defend him from the assaults of the crowd for his unjustifiable interference in the matter. But no difference in opinion can justify the use of such language towards him, and the application of such epithets to his name. I trust a review of those remarks will bring you to the same conclusion, and that you will, as far as the case admits, repair the injuries you have done him.

It is not possible that any community could sustain him as he has been sustained—where he was born and raised—were any of your injurious epithets applicable to his name.

You may search the country in its whole length and breadth, and you cannot find one who stands higher in estimation of those who know him, as a high-minded, honorable, frank and fearless gentleman. His opinions on the Slave-trade may be wrong, but he honestly entertains them. They are the same that were generally entertained in Great Britain and America half a century ago. The fact that he does not conform to your views on that question, furnishes no justifiable cause for the language you have applied to him.

It is not my desire to get into any newspaper controversy on the subject. I merely request you will withdraw what you have hastily done—if you can do so with a sense of propriety. Yours, &c.

The above comes to us from a source which entitles it to entire respect, and we yield prompt evidence to all its statements concerning the character of Mr. Lamar and the general estimation in which he is held in the community where he lives. We are equally ready to add that the epithets employed in our article upon this subject in the Times of yesterday were not designed to have any application to Mr. Lamar's general character, or to be used towards him in any way outside of his connection with this specific transaction;—and even in that respect perhaps they were stronger and more sweeping than the occasion required.

But while we thus readily withdraw whatever imputations may seem to have been cast upon the personal character and general reputation of Mr. Lamar, we cannot concede all that our correspondent is disposed to claim on his behalf. We cannot regard Mr. Lamar's proceedings in connection with the outfit, voyage and return of the Wanderer, as consistent with the character so emphatically asserted for him. Whatever he may think of the Slave-trade in the abstract, he knows that it is in flagrant violation of the law. If he wishes to engage in it, his course, as a high-minded, honorable gentlemen, is, first of all, to seek a repeal of the laws which forbid it and brand it as piracy. Instead of this he entered upon it,—not openly, or even in frank defiance of the law,—but in a clandestine manner,—possessing himself of the flag of an honorable association for the prosecution of a criminal traffic, and resorting throughout to subterfuges and concealments utterly at variance with the character he is reputed to bear. His conduct at the sale of the Wanderer was simply insolent. Every man present at that sale had a perfect right, at law, in morals, and in honor, to bid upon the vessel; and Mr. Lamar's assault upon the only man who seems to have had the spirit to disregard his dictation, was as gross a breach of chivalry as of decency and law. Our correspondent speaks of Mr. Van Horn's "interference" in bidding upon the vessel as "unjustifiable." He can sustain this opinion only by approving and indorsing Mr. Lamar's action from the beginning to the end of the whole affair. That "the crowd" present at the sale should have sympathized with Mr. Lamar, both in his desire to reclaim the forfeited vessel at a nominal price, and in his savage assault upon the only man who had interfered with this chivalric design, is less surprising than it probably would be if the circumstances under which that crowd was brought together were more fully known. We shall not do the people of Savannah the injustice of supposing that they were fairly represented, in sentiment, in temper, or in demeanor, either by Mr. Lamar or "the crowd," in this transaction.

Discoveries of a Savant.—We learn from the Herald of yesterday that the celebrated Dr. Hammel, of Russia, visited that establishment a few days since, and that he made the astounding discovery that nobody in particular edited the paper,—that whatever came in went directly into the printing-office and that "every man there was Editor and master." The Herald's readers cannot share the good Doctor's astonishment. They made the same discovery long ago. Now if the Russian Doctor will drop in at the Times Office we will show him an establishment which will astonish him still more, though possibly upon different grounds.

A Suspicious Bill.—Mr. Conkling has introduced into the Assembly a bill "to empower the members and stockholders of Benevolent, Charitable, Scientific and Missionary Corporations and Societies, to vote by proxy." It has been read twice, reported favorably from the Committee on Charitable and Religious Societies, and committed to the Committee of the Whole. It is not easy to see what good can be accomplished by such a measure, though it is perfectly plain that many and very serious evils may result from its passage. It looks very innocent, but probably means mischief.

The Democratic Revolt.—A call has been issued for a Democratic State Convention at Harrisburgh on the 12th of April, to protest against the action of the late Convention, and to reassert the principle of Popular Sovereignty and Non-intervention. The call is numerously signed, and indicates a strong determination on the part of the Pennsylvania Democracy not to yield to Executive dictation.

Amusements.

Wallack's Theatre.—Mr. Brougham's benefit last night was an occasion of much pleasantness. The house was crowded, and therefore acceptable to the beneficiare; the performance good, and therefore acceptable to the public. Mrs. Hoey was unfortunately sick, her rôle being sustained by Mrs Sloan. After the play Mr. Brougham was called for, and made a brief speech in his usual happy style.

The opportunity was seized for a pleasant personal transaction which we shall recount. Mr. Wallack's artists, it seems, have been engaged for some days past in getting up a little surprise party. It came off last night, and was, we believe, as acceptable as such affairs are apt to be, although a few "outsiders" were let into the secret in time to be present. The "Veteran" was himself unprepared for the demonstration, and therefore ready with that heartfelt recognition of a kindness which a sensitive and refined nature never fails to express, however embarrassing the occasion. To detail briefly the event: The members of Mr. Wallack's company, appreciating (as every one appreciates) his value as a manager and as a gentleman, had caused to be manufactured an elegant silver epergne. After the performance of the piece this beautiful gift was brought on the stage, and Mr. Wallack, who was quietly preparing for his home, was requested to descend from his dressing-room and accept it. Quite embarrassed by an event so unexpected, Mr. Wallack made his appearance. He listened to a well-spoken speech from Mr. Phillips, and then returned thanks in a simple strain. He spoke of the love he bore his profession; of the years he had passed in it; of the years he yet hoped to devote to its interests. He said touchingly that once before, when half his life was spent, the artists of Drury Lane had made him such a gift, and that he hoped this did not close the last half of his career. He referred with pride to the relations which existed between him and every member of his company, and generally to those goodly feelings which uprightness makes mutual between employed and employer. Without affectation or effort the speech was precisely what it ought to have been. It lost none of its savor from the humorous interpolations of Mr. Brougham, or the quick repartee of Mr. Wallack.

The epergne is of elegant design and fine workmanship. It bears the following inscription:

Presented
J. W. WALLACK, Esq.,
By the Ladies and Gentlemen attached to his Theatre, in consideration of the many long years
he has labored to uphold the Drama,
And also as a mark of esteem for the kindly regard he has always evinced towards his Company;
And for the Honorable manner in which he has, under every vicissitude,
Fulfilled all his Engagements.

Celebration of Washington's Birth-Day at Berlin—Dinner at the American Minister's—Baron Humboldt Among the Guests.

Correspondence of the New-York Times.

Berlin, Tuesday, Feb. 22, 1859.

The Americans now in Berlin were on the 19th invited to dine with the American Ambassador on Washington's birth-day as a commemoration of that event; and at the appointed time nearly 70 persons assembled in the drawing-room of the Embassy. An old gentleman was there hale and vigorous, who had, when young, been acquainted with Washington—the Senator Adami, from Bremen, now nearly 86 years of age, but fresh and hearty as a man of 60; and soon the door was opened, and the Baron Von Humboldt, bending with years and honors, entered the room. It was my first and, I presume, my last view of the wonderful old man, whose fame is as great with us as with his own countrymen. His portraits give a very indifferent idea of the philosopher; the finest I have ever seen, indeed almost the finest portrait of any one I have ever seen, hangs on exhibition in the Kunst Vorstellung here; it is by Hoagen, and represents him standing erect in a lofty room, before a table, to the left of a heavy curtain of gold and brown; but I believe that it is impossible for him to stand as he stands there. The picture gives the idea of a man of medium or slightly above medium size; but Humboldt adds one to the number of small yet great men; the white hair, the stooping form of the old man; his trembling hand, his hardly distinguishable voice, and the general air of languor in his movements was remarkable, and prepared me for the remark of the Ambassador's son who stood by me: "How Humboldt has aged since last February!" Yes, it was so; and the leader of natural science in the world—the wisest philosopher, the most laborious and critical investigator—the man who, perhaps, has done more for his own department of learning than any that ever lived—is passing rapidly away. He is now 89 years old; in September, if he ever reaches it, he will be 90; but those who look upon him mournfully admit that his end speedily approaches.

The dinner went off as most dinners do; the hungry ate; the thirsty drank; and there were waiters, wit and wine. After the dinner Gov. Wright arose, and in a brief, well-worded address gave, "The day we celebrate;" this was drank standing, as were the two or three succeeding toasts—"The Royal Family of Prussia," "The United States," and, in silence, "The Memory of General Washington." Secretary of Legation Butler replied to this toast, by request of Gov. Wright, in a neat speech. Then a toast was given—"Baron Von Humboldt," answered by himself; one—"Senator Adami," also answered by himself; and then another to the other Senator of Bremen, whose absence was explained by a letter from him read by Mr. Butler. Then the States were toasted in their turn; "New-York" led the list, answered by the Rev. Mr. Dodge, of New-York, who gave "The American Traveler." The only other toasts I will mention were one by Mr. Thayer, of Boston, better known to the readers of the Musical Review as "Mr. Brown," "Baron Von Humboldt—the King of Science—the latchet of whose shoe other Kings are not worthy to unloose;" and a toast, to our ancient worthies, which I mention because the response was made by Mr. Adams, of Boston, grandson and great-grandson of the Presidents, who alluded feelingly in his speech to the illustrious Prescott, the news of whose death had but just arrived.

At an early hour Humboldt and Mr. Adami took their leave, and at 8 in the evening—good, moral hour—we departed. The weather here is, as usual, execrable; nasty cold, or, as the Germans call it, nasskalt—i. e., wet cold; not enough to freeze hard, but enough to increase the number of German excoriations, which one would think could hardly admit of increase, and filling the city with coughs and colds and typhus fever. Yours, &c. H. A. F.

Reduction of Army Expenses.—The Board appointed by the Secretary of War to inquire into the best means of reducing the expenses in the Quartermaster's Department, have submitted their report. The substance of its recommendations is, that the expense of the present army establishment may be very considerably reduced, and, at the same time, its efficiency greatly promoted, by concentrating the troops, as far as practicable, into large garrisons near navigable water courses, and in the vicinity of the outer settlements, where the supplies of subsistence and forage are produced, and can be furnished at low rates. The Board state that, if their recommendations be carried out, and the troops concentrated, permanent quarters should be established on the usual plans of military posts. The parade-grounds should be ample, and there should be separate drill-grounds for the infantry and cavalry. The ground plan for buildings and their location may be determined on by the engineer bureau.

HOSTILITY OF THE CAMANCHES—PROGRESS OF LIEUT. BEALE'S WAGON-ROAD—ADVANTAGES OF THE LINE FOR A PACIFIC RAILROAD.

We have been favored with the subjoined paragraph from a private letter of a Santa Fé correspondent, of the date of Feb. 21:

"On the 2d inst. I went in company with Lieut. Beale and Kit Carson, with escort, out into the Camanche country. The chiefs sent for Lieut. Beale to come out and see them, as they wanted to make arrangements in reference to emigrants passing through their country as they call it. The chiefs tell Lieut. Beale that emigrants, together with the United States mails, may pass through unmolested, but if any person undertakes to settle, or build a house, they will surely kill them. So here is a nut for Uncle Sam to crack. The Camanches are a powerful tribe and are well armed with rifles and pistols; and I am told that they have made it their boast that they will fight the American army man to man. The wagon route to California, now building by Beale, is destined to be the great emigrant overland route, as it is well watered, timbered, &c. And the great facilities it offers for a railroad are certainly superior to those of all other routes yet surveyed. Congress may quibble and locate some other line; but, if the thing is done, millions will be thrown foolishly away. Beale's route is not the same passed over by Lieutenant Whipple; but is nearly the whole distance a new one accurately surveyed by Beale and his engineer, Camp. Every foot of the way has been measured and the grade taken, and in no place will the inclination be over thirty feet to the mile. It is almost a straight line from Fort Smith to the Colorado, certainly two very prominent and useful points to be considered by one very wise before they locate at any parallel.

The Washington States has the following: "We copied, not long since, a statement that a distinguished Captain in the Navy was about to be court-martialed for an offence disgracefully inconsistent with the conduct of an officer and a gentleman. We learn, on inquiring at the Navy Department, that no such matter has come to the knowledge of the Department. An officer recently holding a high position in the Brazilian Squadron is without doubt indicated by the paragraph, but no charges against this officer have been laid before the Department, nor does the Secretary of the Navy intend to order a Court-martial for his trial."

The marriage of Lady Harriet De Burgh, only unmarried daughter of the Marquis and Marchioness of Clanricarde, with Mr. V. Wentworth, son of Mr. and Lady Augusta Wentworth, is to take place shortly.

CITY INTELLIGENCE.

The Neapolitan Exiles.—The steamship Weser, which arrived at this port on the 18th inst., reports having passed, on the 6th inst., the Baltimore ship David Stewart, bound to Queenstown. No mention is made of the vessel being in distress. It is, therefore, probable that the Neapolitan exiles, who were forcibly put on board this ship to be conveyed to the United States, in order to avoid the sufferings incident to a Winter passage to America in their feeble state of health, have seized the vessel and compelled the captain to land them in English territory. It is known that the commander of an English steamer, which mysteriously appeared at Cadiz about the time of their arrival there, requested permission to take the prisoners to England, which was refused. It is surmised, by those well-informed here, that this step was anticipated before they set sail, and that very little force was required to cause the captain to change the destination of his ship. Extensive arrangements have been made by the Italian Committee to give the exiles a warm welcome. The reception, however, was not to be one of public parade or of a political character, but dignified and entirely philanthropic. The pleasure will now be denied them, as, if these persons have been landed in English territory, they will probably proceed to Sardinia, as that Government has offered them hospitality. The next steamer will bring decisive information of their movements.

Meeting of the Republican Central Committee.—An adjourned meeting of the Republican Central Committee was held last evening at their rooms, No. 618 Broadway, the Vice-President, Thomas Little, in the Chair. There was a very full attendance. A resolution was adopted that reporters be admitted or excluded from the meetings of the Committee, according to the decision of a majority of members present, to be determined by a vote taken, without debate, immediately after the reading of the minutes of each meeting. A long preamble and resolutions, embodying extreme Abolition views, and winding up with an indorsement of the "personal liberty bill," now before the Legislature, introduced by Mr. Fairman of the Eighteenth Ward, after a lengthy discussion, were laid on the table by a large majority. Mr. Brill, of the Sixth Ward, offered a resolution disapproving of the proposed amendment to the Constitution of Massachusetts, requiring two years' residence after naturalization before voting, as being contrary to the spirit of the Republican National Platform, and entreating the citizens of Massachusetts to vote it down. It was adopted, 31 to 3. A communication was received from the Sixteenth Ward Republican Committee, expressing their desire to listen to a speech from the Hon. Joshua Giddings, at present sojourning in this City, and asking the coöperation of the General Committee in getting up a mass meeting. The plan of a mass meeting was disapproved of, but the officers of the General Committee were authorized to invite Mr. Giddings to address the Old and Young Men's Committees at their rooms, No. 618 Broadway, on any evening he might select.

The Hon. Joshua R. Giddings on the Higher Law.—A moderately large audience listened to the address of the Hon. Joshua R. Giddings, before the Young Men's Christian Union, at Clinton Hall, Astor-place, last evening. Dr. Cheever, and Mr. J. B. Warren, President of the Board of Education, occupied seats on the platform. "The Higher Law, the only proper basis of Human Government," was the theme of the lecturer. He said that if his name had reached them, it had reached them as that of a very humble individual, laboring in a very humble manner. His proposition, each mind would perceive, was self-evident. It had been asserted from the earliest times. Mr. Giddings expressed his unmeasured censure of the spirit which made men who contributed for foreign missions and did not dare to send tracts against Slavery to the South; he reprobated the conduct of the Pro-Slavery clergy especially; and the only fault, he said, that he had found with Mr. Beecher, whom he had heard last Sunday, was that he had not prayed for them. But nothing could stay the progress of truth. The country was waking up on the subject of Slavery. He had no fears for the future. He exhorted all who heard him to labor for the overthrow of Slavery.

The Movement for the Benefit of Sewing Women.—A meeting of the employers of seamstresses was called for last evening, to be held at the rooms of the Industrial Association, No. 4 Fourth-avenue. There was a very slim attendance, but the Secretary of the Industrial Association, who called the meeting, announced that nearly all the leading employers of the City, comprising over 100 names, had been visited, and they all, without exception, expressed their approval of the plan, heretofore published in the Times, for improving the condition of the sewing women, and promised to furnish the Association with work. He further stated that nearly all of the manufacturers of sewing machines in the City had generously presented the Association with one of their machines, and that they would be ready to receive work from the employers on Wednesday next at their rooms, No. 4 Fourth-avenue. The following resolution was adopted, after which the meeting adjourned.

Resolved, That, in the judgment of this meeting, the plan proposed by the American Industrial Association for improving the condition of sewing-women is practicable, and if properly carried out will effect much good; and that this meeting pledges its cordial coöperation.

For California.—The United States Mail steamship Star of the West, Capt. A. G. Gray, left for Aspinwall at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, with the California mails and passengers. The low price of fare, $60 in the steerage, and a corresponding reduction in the first and second cabin, has given a new impetus to travel, and the present steamer carries out a large number. Among them are Senator Gwin, Ex-Governor Denver, of Kansas, and Governor Stevens and family, delegate from Washington Territory. Senator Broderick and the Hon. J. C. McKibben, go to New Orleans by land, where they will take the Coatzacoalcos on her first trip to Minatitlan, and crossing the Tehuantepec Isthmus, will join the Star of the West's passengers at Acapulco. By this means they avoid some three thousand miles of ocean travel.

Preferred Death to Amputation.—Bridget Kennedy died yesterday at the City Hospital from the effects of a compound fracture of the right leg. The physicians told her they could save her life by amputating the injured limb, but she stoutly refused to have the leg cut off, and died in consequence. A rumor obtained currency that she had been outraged by some Sixth Ward "Dead Rabbits," and sustained her injury in her struggle to free herself, but the story is incorrect. She was standing on the sidewalk in front of her residence, No. 10 Mulberry-street, when two men, named Patrick McConley and Thomas Doty, rudely pushed her into the gutter. The men named have been arrested, and Coroner O'Keefe will investigate the case to-day.

The Twelfth Regiment Going to Albany.—The 12th Regiment (Independence Guard) have decided to pay a visit to Albany, to be inspected by the Governor, and also with the view of remonstrating against the order which has been issued by the Commander-in-Chief, consolidating the 12th with the 10th Regiment. The measure is regarded as equivalent to a destruction of the Regiment. They form on Broome-street at 3½ o'clock to-morrow afternoon, and march thence to the steamer New-World, by which they proceed to Albany. The Regiment will be under command of Lieutenant Colonel Henry A. Weeks.

New Yacht.—Captain Hawkins, of Port Jefferson, under whose supervision the celebrated yacht Wanderer was built, arrived here on the 18th in charge of a fine new yacht, called the Corypheus, which he has had built for Messrs. Milliken & Story, the owners of the Southern yacht Chief, of New-Orleans. She has been brought here for delivery to her owners.

Mail for Havana.—The steamer Coatzacoalcos, Capt. Wilson, will leave to-morrow, Wednesday, 23d, for Havana and New-Orleans, taking the Havana mail, which will close at the Post-office in this City at 11 o'clock A. M. The Coatzacoalcos carries out a good number of passengers, both for Havana and New-Orleans, as well as a large quantity of freight.

City Car Accidents.—Thomas Quigley, who fell from a Third-avenue car a few days ago, as heretofore reported, died yesterday at the Hospital from his injuries. An inquest was held, and a verdict of "Accidental death" was rendered. Thomas Jones, a boy seven years old, was run over yesterday by a Sixth-avenue car in Canal-street. His right hand was cut off, and his left foot dreadfully mangled.

Tired of Life.—Mary Clyde, a young girl of the town, on Monday evening attempted self-destruction by swallowing a dose of laudanum. She was taken to the City Hospital, a stomach-pump applied and the poison removed.

Police Reports.

A Rat-tail Bed and a Shyster.—Mrs. Jerusha Bennett, residing in East Fourteenth-street, according to her affidavit, yesterday, before Justice Kelly, purchased a mattress in Chatham street, lined with rat tails, instead of horse hair. In making the complaint, she was entrapped by a "Snyster," and induced to part with some genuine bills for a bogus warrant. She declares that she will never make another purchase in Chatham-street, and never place confidence again in a short man with florid complexion, a light moustache and a mourning weed around his hat—such being the description she gives of the shyster. Justice Kelly recovered the money from the Chatham-street dealer, but the bogus warrant-dealer is still at large.

Fight Between Women.—Mary Corson and Mary Oakley, both Irish women, got into an altercation in Baxter-street. The Corson Mary seized a sharp table-knife and endeavored to slice the cheeks of her antagonist. The Oakley Mary cried "murder," and a Sixth Ward Policemen arrested both parties. The victim of the knife was taken to the City Hospital, and her murderous assailant was committed to the Tombs.

A Nuisance Broken up.—The police, at a late hour Sunday night, made a descent upon a notoriously bad house in the rear of No. 276 Sixth-street. Six arrests were made. Some of the inmates, advised of the approach of the police, effected their escape. The prisoners, mostly young girls, were yesterday taken before Justice Steers, and sent to the Island for various terms.

Threatening Life.—Noah A. Freeman, jeweler at No. 287 Broadway, made a complaint yesterday against a Mr. Cason, an employe of the Traders' Express Company, charging him with threatening his life. Cason was held to answer. The difficulty grew out of a misunderstanding about rent, the Express Company being tenants of Mr. Freeman.

Stabbing.—Archibald Dick and John Rankin, both residing in Thirty-fourth-street, had a dispute yesterday. Dick used his fists freely on Rankin, and the latter, to save his own life, as he alleges, stabbed his assailant in the neck. Rankin was committed to Jefferson Market Prison by Justice Quackenbush.

Alleged Attempted Infanticide.—A German widow, named Julia Schwartz, was arrested yesterday charged with attempting the life of her infant child by throwing it down a sink. The child was rescued, and she alleges that it fell in. Justice Steers committed her to await investigation.

MUNICIPAL.

Board of Aldermen.

A minority only of the Board of Aldermen were in their seats yesterday afternoon at the appointed hour of meeting, and the Board was declared adjourned to Thursday. The Clerk in opening the communications sent in to the Board by the Mayor found among them one nominating Elijah F. Purdy, Esq., as City Inspector vice Mr. Morton. Accompanying was a letter from Dr. Foster who was originally nominated for the vacancy, authorizing the Mayor to withdraw his name.

Board of Councilmen.

Councilman Ottarson offered the following resolution, which was adopted:

Resolved, That his Honor the Mayor be (and is hereby) requested to convene the Board of Health at as early a day as practicable.

Councilman Ottarson said a few words in support of the resolution. A report recently presented to the Legislature shows that New-York is the most unhealthy city in the Union. Dirty streets, &c., are undoubtedly the cause of this to a great extent, and the Board of Health, he said, should be immediately convened to remove everything prejudicial to the public health.

The Mayor sent in the following communication in reply to a resolution of inquiry:

Mayor's Office, New-York, March 21, 1859.

To the Honorable the Board of Councilmen:

Gentlemen: I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of a resolution requesting the Mayor to inform your honorable Board "by what authority men are now at work cleaning the streets, what expense has already been incurred for such work since the first of January, and also whether the work is done by contract;" and in reply thereto I beg leave to state that the work of cleaning the streets was commenced by the Superintendent of Sanitary Inspection in the City Inspector's Department, as I have been informed by that officer a few days ago, and that the amount of expense incurred, including the removal of ashes and garbage from the several Wards since the commencement of this year, has been $27,071 49, up to the 19th inst. The work of cleaning the streets and also the removal of the ashes and garbage, has been done, as I am informed, by the Superintendent of Sanitary Inspection under the provisions of the charter relating to the City Inspector's Department, which he claims authorizes that Department to proceed with such work until a contract shall have been made therefor, except that the ashes and garbage for the Tenth, Thirteenth and Sixteenth Wards have been removed by the old contractors of those Wards.

(Signed.) DANIEL F. TIEMANN, Mayor.

Councilman Ottarson said that the information given was not explicit enough, and on his motion it was referred to the Committee on Cleaning streets.

The report of the Committee on the Fire Department of the Board of Aldermen, non-concurring with the Councilmen, in directing the upper story of Firemen's Hall to be fitted up for the use of the Committee on the Fire Department, was received and referred to the Committee on the Fire Department of the Board of Councilmen.

Councilman Ottarson moved that the report of the Special Committee on repairing the City Hall should be amended so that the work might be prosecuted without advertising to have it done by contract.

The amendment was lost for want of a constitutional vote, and, on motion of Mr. Ottarson, the whole matter was laid on the table, and the Board adjourned.

Board of Supervisors.

The Comptroller submitted to the Board, yesterday, a letter from Mr. James Kelley, stating the amount of taxes apparently uncollected Jan. 4, 1859, at which time he assumed the duties of the Office of Receiver of Taxes. He reports that a large amount for taxes upon personal property has been found against various incorporated Companies. The following is the recapitulation:

Taxes on Real Estate for 1858	$978,056 04
Taxes on Personal Property from 1843 to 1858	1,744,649 26
Total	$2,722,705 40
Croton Arrears for 1857	35,908 29
Total	$2,758,613 59

In the list of delinquents are the names of several of the wealthiest institutions in the county. A certain portion of taxes assessed upon foreign Insurance Companies is authorized and directed to be paid by these Companies to the Treasurer of the Fire Department. Under the law of 1849 the loss to the Treasury on this account thus far is as follows:

Liverpool and London Fire Insurance Co.	$3,004 29
Unity Fire Insurance Co. of London	271 65
Royal Insurance Co. of London and Liverpool	981 56
Total	$4,257 50

The Receiver submits the subject to the consideration of the Board, together with the fact that no provision has been made for this amount in the tax-levy of 1858, and that a similar or larger amount is required for the present year. The Comptroller, commenting upon this document, says full and satisfactory replies were duly received by him from all county officials to whom his circular was addressed, except only the Commissioner of Jurors, who had been too busy to give one. From a note from the Chamberlain, appended, it appears that the payments made by the Commissioner of Jurors into the treasury, since the commencement of his term of office, have been as follows:

1856,	Jan. 28	$2,832 75
	Dec. 31	3,269 75
1857,	June 29	3,305 00
	Dec. 29	2,248 54
1858,	June 30	2,234 26
	Dec. 30	2,083 95

The sums thus paid "are exclusive of the salary of the Commissioner. The amount retained for that purpose is unknown to this Department." The Comptroller thinks the Commissioner should be required to report to the Finance Department the monthly receipts of his office, and pay the same into the Treasury monthly as the other County officers do. It was directed that the document be printed.

A resolution, offered by Mr. Tweed, directing that the President of the Board apply to the Legislature for an additional appropriation in the Tax Levy of $20,000 for the new County Jail, was adopted.

Mr. Blunt offered a resolution directing the Committee on Printing and Stationery to inquire if any of the judgments obtained against the City now in the tax levy at Albany before the Legislature do not properly belong to the county. Many of the judgments against the Mayor and Commonalty provided for in the tax levy, it is asserted, were obtained for bills against the county which the Board of Supervisors had refused to pay, and for which the claimants prosecuted the City, obtaining judgment by default in accordance with the custom which in such cases prevails, not necessarily with the collusion of the Counsel to the Corporation. The resolution was adopted, and the report which the Committee will offer at the next meeting it is expected will contain some interesting statements.

It was directed that the bill of John Ward, amounting to $47 40, for disinterring the remains of Mrs. Sophia Stephens, be paid.

Withdrawal of his Name by Dr. Foster.

New-York, March 18, 1859.

To His Honor, Daniel F. Tiemann, Mayor of the City of New-York:

Dear Sir: It is now more than two months since you nominated me for the responsible office of City Inspector. I felt honored by the nomination, for it expressed your conviction that I was a fit person to be invested with a most important trust—a trust involving the health and lives of the whole community. Moreover, the office was unsought by me, you yourself were personally unacquainted with me, and we belonged to different political parties. I knew therefore that you must have selected me with regard solely to my fitness for the office, and on the unsolicited recommendation of those who had known me long and well.

The Board of Aldermen refuse to act upon your nomination. I have not been able to learn that any of them question my capacity or honesty. The matter has been pretty thoroughly discussed in the newspapers and elsewhere, without eliciting, so far as I am aware, anything to my discredit. There must, then, be objections which do not relate to my fitness in either of the above respects. If these objections are of a political nature, as is alleged, perhaps some person can be found to whom they do not apply. It is most important, at any rate, that the duties of the office should be attended to. Summer will soon be here, and if it comes before the City is purified, it can hardly fail to bring with it a pestilence.

I do not wish to be responsible, however remotely, for the calamitous results which must follow the further neglect of sanitary measures. I would not be, in any sense, a barrier in the path of improvement. I respectfully request you, therefore, as soon as you think proper, to withdraw my name.

I know that you are earnestly endeavoring to reform the municipal administration, and sincerely trust that your efforts may be crowned with success. Let me thank you for the confidence you have reposed in me, and, if it be permitted, let me also, through you, thank the medical profession for the warm manner in which they have responded to your nomination.

I am, with the highest respect,
Your Honor's very obedient servant,
S. CONANT FOSTER.

BROOKLYN INTELLIGENCE.

The Missing Girl, McKinney.—There is little or no foundation for the statement in several of the New-York papers, yesterday, that the girl named McKinney, missing from New-York, died recently in the Long Island College Hospital. The girl who died there, Coroner Horton says, bears in no way any resemblance to the New-York girl, and the whole story is doubtless based upon the fact that the girl died from inflammation of the womb caused by an attempt to produce abortion, and that her name, through mistake, was at first given as McKinney. The missing girl is described as 19 years old, good looking, medium size, and light curly hair. The girl who died was at least 30 years old, with black hair, of large size and coarse appearance. Coroner Horton investigated the case thoroughly, and found where she had lived for months, in a respectable family in th's City, up to the time she was taken to the Hospital. This fact the friends of the missing girl were made acquainted with when the subject was first agitated.

Political.—Mr. John G. Bergen desires us to state that not he, but Mr. Peter G. Bergen, is a candidate for the Mayoralty in Brooklyn.

The Unclaimed Deposits in the Savings Banks.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

The Times of this morning contains a notice of Mr. Opdyke's bill for confiscating—that is the word—confiscating the unclaimed deposits in the Savings Banks. Allow me to say,

1. I believe that an investigation will result in showing that the amount of such funds is much smaller than is generally alleged or supposed.

2. There are depositors living within the very precincts of the Banks who allow their funds to accumulate for years, without adding new deposits or going near the Banks, being satisfied that the funds are well managed, and intending at their own time to make use of them. Some such depositors occasionally appear, and withdraw either the accrued interest or the whole fund.

3. The knowledge of such unclaimed deposits strengthens the credit of the Banks, depositors regarding them as an additional security, especially against the effect of a sudden panic and "run." The propositions made in the Legislature to "remove these deposits," induce depositors to withdraw their funds from such hazards, and hinder others from making deposits.

4. If it is undesirable to leave unclaimed deposits merely to accumulate without benefit to anybody, why would it not be fairer to dispose of them in another way than that which is proposed to the Legislature? For example, let them be carried to the credit of existing depositors, somewhat on the principle of Tontine. These depositors receive at most a lower rate of interest, and they have created as it were by their deposits the institutions which were established for their common benefit, since it is only by uniting to deposit their savings that any individual depositor can have any benefit. They, too, take all the risks, and ought to share the profits. Or let the funds in question be held by the Banks, (say after 20 years,) in trust, the interest being paid over to some benevolent institution—like the Home of the Friendless in New-York—and thus accomplish a charity more consonant with the feelings of depositors than the confiscation, scramble and loss likely to result from the unguarded bill of Mr. Opdyke, or any other bill which would put these funds into the State Treasury, and under the control of tinkering legislators. K.

OBITUARY.

Mr. Samuel Jackson, a surgeon in the Navy, died at his residence in Brooklyn March 16, and was buried on the 18th with military honors. A detachment of 50 Marines, with the band belonging to the North Carolina, formed the escort to the grave in Greenwood Cemetery. Surgeon Jackson joined the Navy in July, 1812, and his commission, as surgeon, dates March 27, 1818, thus having been in service over 46 years. Deceased was 72 years of age, and ranked as a valuable and efficient officer. He has latterly been furloughed on account of the infirmities of age.

General William T. Haskell died a few days ago in the Tennessee Lunatic Asylum. Not long since he had a serious relapse, after a short period of sanity, and was returned to the Institution, where he died. General Haskell was once a prominent man in Tennessee, an active politician, and a popular speaker.

Count Crazincky, a Polish refugee of large fortune and a distinguished poet, died in Paris recently. In consequence of this event, a grand ball which was to have been given on that day by Prince Czartorisky was countermanded.

A White Woman and her Children Held in Slavery.

A meeting was held in Philadelphia on Friday, to consider the condition of Ellen Mitchell, white woman, and her five white children, who are held in bondage at Fredericksburg, Virginia, and to raise funds for purchasing their freedom. Ellen was there with one of her little boys, a fine-looking child, about seven years of age. Ellen has a brunette complexion, but her features bear no resemblance to those of colored persons.

The following statement of the case is given:

Ellen Mitchell, a white slave woman, formerly belonged to Mrs. Judge Coulter, of Fredericksburg, Virginia, in whose family she was reared as one of the household. Mrs. Coulter, in her will, decreed that her slaves should be manumitted, but the heirs, under the Slave law of Virginia, succeeded in breaking the will after Mrs. Coulter's death, and, consequently, Ellen and her five children were remanded back again to slavery. The slaves were all sold, and Ellen and her five children were purchased by Mr. H. Lacy. Some time afterwards Mr. Lacy concluded to remove further South with all his slaves, but Ellen peremptorily refused to accompany him, and Lacy, fearing the consequences, determined to sell her and her children.

At the solicitation of her friends, a Mr. George Ahler, a slave-dealer of Fredericksburg, stepped forward and bought her and her five children. Mr. Ahler gives her the privilege, simply on her word of honor, to travel through the Northern States for three months, from December 30, 1858, for the purpose of collecting $1,000, which sum he agrees to take for herself and family. She arrived at Washington near the close of the session, and received about $300 from the members of Congress during her stay there. The father of her children is a white man, and, it is believed, has now deserted her, and gone to California, her own father was also a white man.

Negroes Excluded from the Public Lands.—The Pittsburg Gazette says that, about a month ago, a company of colored people in that city desired to form a party to emigrate westward, and settle upon and preempt public lands. Their counsel communicated with the Land Department at Washington, and received in reply the following flat refusal:

General Land Office, March 7, 1859.

John M. Kirkpatrick, Pittsburg, Penn.:

Sir: In reply to your letter of the 24th ult., I have to state that, under the now settled ruling of this office, which has been sanctioned by the Secretary, colored persons are not citizens of the United States as contemplated by the preëmption law of 4th September, 1841, and are, therefore, not legally entitled to preëmpt public lands.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,
JOS. S. WILSON, Acting Commissioner.

Jealousy, Murder and Suicide.—In St. Louis, on Wednesday, March 16, James Hamilton, a meat seller, 24 years of age, in a paroxysm of jealousy shot his wife, a girl of 18, to whom he had been married only three months, and afterwards discharged a pistol into his own body, inflicting a wound from which he can hardly recover. The difficulty seems to have originated with Hamilton's relatives, who were opposed to his marriage. A few days since his sisters visited him, in company with a young lady to whom he had formerly been attached, apparently with the intention of annoying his wife. Matters went on until Wednesday, when a lady residing in the house heard Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton engaged in a loud altercation. On entering the room she found Mrs. Hamilton packing her trunks. She asked her visitor to go with her to the Cathedral. The husband then said, "You want to go for a divorce, do you?" adding, "so that you can marry again." His wife did not reply. He then grasped her by the arm and drew a pistol, which missed fire. Throwing it down he discharged another, which took effect in her arm and passed thence into her side. She ran out, screaming "Save me! save me!" and fled by the rear into the next house northward, occupied by Mrs. Morton.

Messrs. J. S. & E. Bromley: This is to certify that I have made use of your silver-plated ware in the Pavilion House for eight years, and have found it to stand the test of hard usage. The goods which I now have in use, plated by you in 1850, are in good condition. McKNIGHT'S MALT WINE is not a common article of ale by any means.
It is an admitted fact that the ordinary American ales are not equal to the imported ones. The high prices obtained for the English and Scotch ales allow of a greater care and expense in manufacturing them than can be afforded in this country. At the same time the difference in price is the only bar to the manufacture of as good an ale in America as can be made in the world.
To prove this JOHN McKNIGHT, of Albany, presents to the public, in his MALT WINE, an article which is only inferior to the imported Burton Ale in not having the Custom-house stamp upon it. Whether it is worth while to pay three times the cost of the MALT WINE for the Custom house stamp the public can decide.
Neither pains nor expense has been spared to make the MALT WINE what it purports to be, an article in every way equal to the best imported ale.
It has met with great success since its introduction into market—a success so great as to be certain of producing imitators and cheap imitations of it.
The margin of profit on it being merely nominal, any lower priced article purporting to equal it must be an inferior imitation; unless some benefactor to the human race wishes to give away his ale, which is not probable.

It has been thus described in one of Mr. Willis' letters from Idlewild: "This elevated point of land is at the junction of the Moodna River with the Hudson, and was once a magnificent terrace-island, connected with the Highlands now by the causeway of the estate. It consists of about 115 acres; the terrace-lawn, in which stands the dwelling, being a superbly-wooded table-land of 30 acres, 120 feet above the water-level. HYATT'S PATENT LIGHTS.
A CARD HAVING BEEN ISSUED TO THE PUBLIC

By parties who frankly confess that they do not pay me for my invention, I avail myself of this opportunity to advertise the names of those who do. The following persons, only, are licensed under my patents in this City:

George R. Jackson & Co.
J. B. & W. W. Cornell & Co.
S. B. Althause & Co.
Ingalls & Case.
Theodore Hyatt.

The law is, that a person who purchases or uses a patented article is equally liable for infringement with the maker of it. The "makers" having fairly notified the "users" of their intention not to pay, the "users" have only themselves to blame if I collect my tariff of them—as I shall certainly do. THADDEUS HYATT.

A CARD TO THE PUBLIC.

Having been creditably informed that persons have on one or more occasions endeavored to injure our business by false and malicious statements to the effect that the vault light which we manufacture and sell is an infringement of letters patent granted to Mr. Thaddeus Hyatt, we hereby notify those persons to desist from such defamatory statements, as we shall hold them personally responsible for damages.

Letters patent for the vault light which we are manufacturing was granted June 29, 1858, and, should it be questioned, we are fully prepared to defend our rights in the premises, and to show that we are not infringing upon the rights of Mr. Hyatt or any one else.

BOONTON, PATENT MACHINE-MADE NUTS.—The subscribers are now manufacturing at their Works, Boonton, New-Jersey, WROUGHT IRON NUTS, upon R. H. COLE'S newly patented NUT MACHINES. In their manufacture the patented device of the "Double Punch," namely, two punches operating from opposite sides toward the centre of the Nut forces into the body of the Nut most of the Iron, which in all other processes is punched out; and also condenses the Iron around the bolt hole, thus insuring the greatest strength in the Screw thread, and making, as they believe, a Nut superior to any made by hand, or the ordinary machine processes.

They invite all consumers of WROUGHT IRON NUTS to make trial of them, and will furnish samples and their price list on application. FULLER, LORD & CO.,

DR. MAGNIN'S LUCINA CORDIAL, OR ELIXIR OF LOVE.—This delightful and positive invigorant of the human system is fast superseding all other remedies; in fact, when its virtues become fully known, it will be the only remedy in use. Its action on the nervous system and reproductive organs is most extraordinary, allaying all over-excitement, and infusing into the nervous organization that degree of tension which is requisite to give the human system the enjoyment of its full powers, both mentally and physically. As an appetizer it is equally remarkable; assimilated with the gastric juices of the stomach, it assists them in more readily dissolving all nutritious substances, and converting them into pure and wholesome blood; thus the digestion is improved, and the whole framework of man moves on in a more vigorous and harmonious manner. Hereby. Price $3 per bottle, or two bottles for $5. Principal office No. 293 Fulton-st., New-York. DR. MAGNIN.

DR. HUNTER—NO. 3 DIVISION-ST., PERFORMS THE GREATEST CURES EVER MADE.
THE ONLY SECURITY AGAINST HUMBUGS AND THE EFFECTS OF DISEASES IS TO APPLY TO HIS OLD DISPENSARY, NO. 3 DIVISION-ST., NEW-YORK.
ESTABLISHED IN 1834.

Dr. HUNTER, No. 3 Division-st., offers to the public the only reliable remedy known in the wide world for the permanent cure and removal of every particle of the rank and poisonous virus of venereal disease, which is the genuine HUNTER'S RED DROP, made from the original recipe, in the possession of Dr. HUNTER and not known by any other person living except Dr. HUNTER, at No. 3 Division-st., one door from the Bowery, all the assertions of the many poisonous quacks to the contrary notwithstanding. Dr. H. has prepared every vial of this celebrated medicine with his own hands that has ever been offered for sale for the last thirty years, and has never intrusted any living person with the secret; consequently, everything offered for sale at any other place is a libel, a base and wicked counterfeit, got up by some unprincipled wretch that, for the sake of a dollar, would trifle with the lives of his fellow-men.

Trial of James Stephens for the Murder of his Wife by Poison—Testimony for the Defence Closed.

THIRTEENTH DAY.

COURT OF OYER AND TERMINER.

Before the Hon. Judge Roosevelt.

There is no evidence of a cessation of public interest in this protracted trial. Yesterday the Court room was as much crowded as on preceding days, and the applications for admission of late comers, for whom there was not even standing room, were as numerous as ever.

The letter of Charles Bell, father of Robert, Sophia and Fanny Bell, which Mr. Cushing, on the part of the defence, desired, on Saturday, to put in evidence, and which the Judge took home with him to consider its relevancy and other matters, was excluded by his Honor on two objections, that he said were totally unanswerable. The first was, that the writer of the letter, being in Ireland, was not a sworn witness; the second, that the matter contained in the letter was not relevant to the issue on trial, and if allowed to be produced, would tend greatly to protract the trial. The letter, therefore, was excluded.

Dr. Thomas C. Finnell was called as the first medical witness for the defence, and examined by Mr. Ullmann. He testified that he had made a large number of post-mortem examinations for the Coroner, and had thus been led to study the nature of poisons; arsenic was an acute and irritant poison, differing in that respect from narcotic poisons; death usually resulted from ten to thirty hours after taking arsenic, but one case was recorded where death occurred in one hour, and sometimes the person poisoned lived a fortnight, and even longer; the Doctor recounted the symptoms of arsenical poisoning in detail, but did not vary materially in that respect from the medical testimony of the prosecution; arsenic sometimes, but rarely, produced narcotic effects; witness exhibited several preserved stomachs, taken from persons who died from arsenic, and explained the pathological effects of arsenic under various circumstances; four ounces of laudanum taken within ten hours would certainly produce death; a teaspoonful sometimes causes death, but he had known one case where a person took four ounces and yet recovered; he presumed that was a bad quality of laudanum, and besides, vomiting was soon brought about; if the stomach was already irritated by arsenic laudanum would more readily take effect, and would diminish the effect of the arsenic; cholera and cholera-morbus frequently resemble arsenical poison very closely; so did chronic gastritis and several other diseases named and described by witness; he visited the body of Mrs. Stephens at Bellevue Hospital, after the post-mortem examination; he cut off a small piece and brought it away with the intention of analyzing it; Dr. Ferguson went with him; a person whom he understood to be Mr. Bell was in the room; believed he left that man there when he came away; a large proportion of arsenic producing death—perhaps one-seventh, more or less—would be found in the liver; had made analyses to discover arsenical poison; if a chemist could not certainly detect arsenic in the liver and intestines, although he might find traces in the bones and muscular and adipose tissues, witness would not say death had been caused by arsenic; in cases he had examined, he found arsenic in the stomach and intestines, notwithstanding the patients had vomited freely; vomiting very seldom dislodged all the arsenic from the folds of the stomach and intestines; arsenic is a preservative of the parts to which it is locally applied, but not a general preservative of the body; why some bodies are longer preserved than others after interment, is not known. Witness stated the effects of various medicines upon the stomach.

Cross-examined by Mr. Sedgwick—Arsenic sometimes affects the nervous system, producing paralysis, complete or incomplete; constipation of the bowels may, in rare cases, accompany arsenical poisoning; inflammation of the stomach may be altogether absent; there are cases mentioned of death from both large and small doses of arsenic, where not a trace of arsenic could be found in the stomach; in cases of chronic poisoning the symptoms are remittent; would consider a case lasting three weeks as on the dividing line between chronic and acute poisoning.

The District Attorney read a long statement of symptoms, (supposed to have existed in the case of Mrs. Stephens,) and the witness said they were symptoms of arsenical poisons and some other diseases; but no one disease, nor arsenical poisoning, would embrace the whole of them. Witness pointed out such of the symptoms as in his opinion were not indicative of arsenic; taking the whole case, all these symptoms might be produced by a combination of diseases; as, for instance, acute inflammation of the stomach and bowels produced by irritating food; congestion of the liver; diseases of the brain, such as congestion of the brain; congestion of the kidneys, and generally disordered health; never saw or heard of such a combination of diseases, but believes it may occur, and not unfrequently; other diseases might combine to produce the symptoms; if he found arsenic in the body, after death with such symptoms, would infer that arsenic was the cause of death; the piece he cut from the body of Mrs. Stephens was not larger than the tip of his finger; he was prevented by other engagements from analyzing it as he intended; I engaged in conversation with that young man who was present in the dead-house, and believed him to be Robert Bell; I sent word to the coroner that the body might be sent to the Fourteenth-street Medical College and there examined; I would not have any objection to such interference in my own case; I saw the prisoner at the Tombs; have spoken to some of the professional witnesses and one of the others, and have stated my views of and discussed the case in every way; I expressed my opinion to them, and have entertained that opinion from the time when the case was gone into before the coroner until the present time; I have changed my opinions on some points recently—on one point of it; I have looked into the question as to whether arsenic is normal in the human body; I have never held the opinion that it was a normal constituent of the human body; from the sixteenth to the eighth of a grain is given of Fowler's solution to patients, three times a day—that is from five to ten drops; I am not certain whether five drops contain one-sixteenth of a grain; arsenic is excreted by the kidneys mainly, and passes away from the system in about two weeks.

To Mr. Ullmann—I cannot call to mind a case in which any human being had all the symptoms enumerated in this paper;—(a hypothetical case purporting to describe all the symptoms exhibited by Mrs. Stephens)—if a person had them all at the same moment I should not think he would live at all.

Dr. James R. Wood—I was acquainted with the late Dr. William Tully; he was one of the ablest men in my profession, and entertained a great many peculiar views as to medicines and their action; he was a theoretical man, and was very strong and decided in his opinions, whether right or wrong, and, like a great many very learned men, knew too much to be practical; Dr. Nathaniel Chapman, of Philadelphia, is good authority, and so is Dr. Tully among a large number of our profession; in New-England many physicians follow the practice of Tully in using stimulants with narcotics in the treatment of diseases: this might be all right in Connecticut and wrong in New-York, for one form of disease might be typhoid there, as it was when Tully and Martin practiced, and not typhoid in New-York; it is the opinion of all medical men that poisoning can be produced by sympathy—that is by immediate effects on the nervous system, turpentine can be found in the urine five minutes after it is taken into the system; so all the balsams and arsenic are eliminated by the kidneys and discharged through the urine.

Q. Have you had reason to reprimand John O'Brien for letting people into the dead-house? (Objected to.) Witness resumed—The body was kept in the museum, the upper room on the second story; in the gallery specimens of the human body and bones are preserved in cases; I never knew of solutions of arsenic for preserving bodies being kept there; I have repeatedly injected bodies with arsenical solution when I wished to preserve them; there are no subjects injected in that institution; the table on which the body of Mrs. Stephens was examined was not the one ordinarily in use there; the post-mortems are conducted below in what we call the post-mortem room; no course of dissections are permitted in that institution; those are my signatures to the post-mortem examination.

Cross-examined by the Assistant District-Attorney—The standard authorities on poisoning are Christenson, Taylor, Beck's Medical Jurisprudence, Wharton and Stilley, and Guy's Forensic Medicine.

Dr. Alonzo Clark was sworn and examined for the defence—I am professor of pathology and the practice of medicine in the College of Physicians and Surgeons; arsenic is supposed to have a double action on the system—first, as an irritant upon the mucous membrane, and, second, as causing a depressing influence on the nerves; death usually occurs as the result of arsenical poisoning in from twelve hours to three days after the arsenic is taken; its first effect is on the mucous membrane, and the stomach in general; I should hesitate to say that death ensued from arsenical poisoning if inflammation were not found in twenty-four hours after; I don't know of any disease that resembles the symptoms of poisoning by arsenic in all its details, unless it be spontaneous inflammation of the stomach; when arsenic produces vomiting it is not always all thrown off; it is usual to find it lodged in the mucous membrane; it is one of the most insoluble materials known in medicine; when thrown up in a fluid it would not easily be detected; but enveloped in food or in the mucus of the stomach it might be discovered; as a rule the authorities show that the liver, the stomach and the intestines contain the largest portions of arsenic; the larger portion is found in the liver—I say that without regard to time; arsenic chiefly produces its effect on the ganglionic nervous system; it may kill by its action on that and the organs which that system controls, or by inflammation of the stomach and intestines; if on the walls of the stomach or in its contents no arsenic were found, and no inflammation but a little redness on the outer coat of the stomach, none on the mucous membrane, a slight redness on the duodenum, and arsenic in the liver or intestines, in such small portions that a skilled chemist could not say whether there was any there or not, and there should be found suspicions of arsenic in the muscles and adipose tissue, I should be compelled to entertain grave doubt as to whether arsenic had produced the death; I should require pretty strong symptoms to convince me that it had caused the death; I should rather think that, in that case, the arsenic was in the process of elimination; the rule is that those who have been poisoned by arsenic, and are going to die, grow from bad to worse; the rule decidedly is that the symptoms are progressive; arsenic is a preservative, and is used in anatomical preparations; it is a very good one; in the case of persons who die of acute diseases, decomposition differs as to time from cases in which the diseases are chronic; [witness stated from medical authorities several remarkable cases in which bodies were preserved from decay, though no means had been employed for the purpose;] in diseases of the skin and fever and agues, arsenious compounds are used as medicines; have no definite knowledge as to arsenic being the active principle of any of the nostrums of the day; it is a constituent of Fowler's solution, but that is not a nostrum; that solution is used by foreigners, and is taken without the advice of a physician; experiments would show that arsenic is slow to be absorbed; the period during which arsenic has been found in the excretions, from the time of its being taken into the system, varies, according to the reports, from six to twenty-four days; burning in the stomach is a very common sensation; in common dyspepsia it is a very distressing symptom sometimes.

Cross-examined—The reports of examinations made on bodies would show that if inflammation had existed before death, and the body were well preserved for a year or any time, the marks of inflammation would still remain; the redness would still be visible because the coloring principle is not volatile; there is a class of cases—viz.: those which have a rapid termination, in which poisoning by arsenic does not exhibit symptoms of inflammation; Taylor says that inflammation of the stomach is not a consequence of poisoning by arsenic; it may be possible that all the poison in the stomach would be vomited off.

Q.—Is it not stated by the medical authorities on the subject that in many cases of undoubted poisoning by arsenic, not a trace of arsenic was found in the coats of the stomach or its contents? [Objected to, and exception taken.] Witness admitted that such a case had been reported.

In reply to further questions, he said—There is a form of disease that I have treated with opium, never giving more than five grains at the beginning, and have increased it up to twelve grains an hour, each grain representing about twenty-four drops of laudanum; the effect of laudanum is modified by acute inflammation, but I do not suppose it would be modified by mucous inflammations; if, within fifteen minutes of taking laudanum, vomiting occur, and everything be thrown up from the stomach, the laudanum will be thrown off; there is little if any difference between the symptoms of spontaneous inflammation of the stomach and the symptoms produced by arsenic; diarrhoea is no necessary symptom of inflammation of the stomach; there are certain points of difference in the great scope of symptoms produced by spontaneous inflammation of the stomach as compared with the symptoms of poisoning by arsenic; the spontaneous gastritis exhibits no such effects on the nervous system; the same tendency to collapse and paralysis do not form a part of the symptoms of gastritis as they do of poisoning by arsenic; if, twelve months after death, the body were found in a good preservation, and, before death, there had been exhibited all the symptoms represented to have been discovered in the case of Mrs. Stephens, the case would be a very mixed one, and I should say that all the symptoms did not belong to any one form of disease; I see plainly there are symptoms mentioned that might with propriety be referred to arsenical poison, still they lack the order we would like to see in a simple case of poisoning; if arsenic were found in the body I should infer from that and from those symptoms that it had caused death.

Mr. Ashmead offered, in evidence, the papers in the preliminary examination before Justice Welsh.

Objected to; objection sustained.

The testimony taken before the Coroner was also offered in evidence, first en masse, and then partially. The prosecution objected, and the Court ruled that all was inadmissible save the matters to which the attention of the witnesses had been called during this trial. Exception taken.

Mr. Ashmead also offered to read the affidavits of Sophia and Fanny Bell, on which Stevens was arrested, under a warrant issued by Justice Welsh.

Objected to. Objection sustained and exception taken.

The defence announced that their evidence was now all in.

The Court then adjourned until Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock.

COMMON PLEAS—TRIAL TERM.

Before Judge Daly.

SUIT AGAINST THE SAN FRANCISCO VIGILANCE COMMITTEE.

James R. Molony vs. James Dows.—This is an action for assault and battery, alleged to have been committed by the direction of defendant upon the plaintiff, during the late reign of the "Vigilance Committee" in California.

The plaintiff's complaint stated in substance that defendant was the treasurer of the San Francisco Vigilance Committee, and, in conjunction with one William Coleman and forty others, in May, 1856, at the city of San Francisco, of which place plaintiff had always been a good and peaceable citizen, formed a body, and, in defiance of the legally-constituted authorities, broke open the jail and summarily put to death one JAMES CASEY and CORA, who were confined awaiting trial; that in order to give color to these unlawful acts, they styled themselves "The Vigilance Committee of California;" that in consequence of these and other unlawful acts, Gov. JOHNSTON, of California, issued a proclamation calling upon the citizens generally to enroll in the militia for the protection of the State; that in accordance with such requisition the plaintiff enlisted in the militia, and while in such service was deputed to convey certain arms which had been furnished to the State by Gen. Wool, from Benicia to San Francisco; that while conveying these arms, the defendant and others unlawfully conspired together and seized said plaintiff and the arms which were on board the schooner, in San Pablo Bay, going to San Francisco; that the defendant and others then and there committed violent assaults upon plaintiff, seized his person, and kept him in a dungeon for several days, concealing his person from the United States Marshal who wished to obtain it by means of a writ of habeas corpus; that in the month of September, the plaintiff was forcibly abducted and placed on the steamboat for New-York, despite his protestations to the contrary and told never to return upon pain of death. The plaintiff claimed $100,000 as his damages.

The defence was a general denial.

The cause came on for trial to-day, and Mr. George Bowman opened the case for the plaintiff.

He said that one of the wrongs of which the plaintiff complained was that he had been driven from the State under circumstances which precluded his return. Mr. Moloney was a native of New-Jersey. In '49, with thousands of other young men, he went to California, where he was reasonably successful, becoming connected with prominent politicians. Much of his property was destroyed by the great fire in San Francisco. He then was naval storekeeper. Not being very much prospered, he was about closing up his affairs when the Vigilance Committee broke out. Mr. Moloney was one of the victims.

The counsel then proceeded to give a detailed narrative of the facts alleged in the complaint, and to explain what was in his view the character of the Vigilance Committee and its acts. He said that the question of damages was by no means the most important. Constitutional rights are involved, and it is for the Jury to decide whether such high-handed outrages can be committed with impunity. The action, though nominally brought against Mr. Dows, the Treasurer of the Committee, will be felt by four or five hundred wealthy men who composed the body of the Committee.

After the conclusion of his address, Mr. Dows proceeded to offer depositions of witnesses examined upon commission. The remainder of the day was taken up with the discussion of the admissibility of various questions and answers, every point being so closely contested by the eminent counsel engaged that but little progress was made with the testimony before the adjournment.

Francis B. Cutting and Geo. Bowman for plaintiff; Chas. O'Conor, Jas. W. Gerard, Larocques and Barlow for defendants.

COMMON PLEAS.

Before Judge Brady.

James B. Warden vs. The Mayor, &c., of the City of New-York.—This was a suit against the City to recover for work done; and was tried in a free and easy way, and resulted in a verdict for plaintiff for the full amount claimed with large arrears of interest.

Mr. L. J. Goodale appeared for the plaintiff, and Mr. Richard Busteed, in person, for the defendants.

The first thing done was to waive a Jury trial, and consent to leave the whole question to the presiding Judge. This preliminary being adjusted, Mr. Goodale said, briefly, that the plaintiff claimed, as assignee of certain contracts for work done in street improvements, that the work contracted for had been all well and faithfully done by the contractors, and their bills had been audited by the proper officers, &c.

He then produced an assignment of the contracts and proved its execution by testimony of a witness. The assignee (the plaintiff) was also examined in his own behalf, and Mr. Busteed cross-examined him so far as to ascertain that the consideration for the assignment was "a debt."

Then the defendant's counsel admitted the contracts. They were as follows:

For fencing vacant lots south side of Thirty-fourth-street, between Tenth and Eleventh avenues, $146.

For fencing vacant lots on Thirty-second-street between Ninth and Tenth avenues, $131.

For fencing on south side of Thirty-fourth-street between Fifth and Sixth avenues, $123.

For fencing south side of Twenty-third-street between Eighth and Ninth avenues, $49.

All the above contracts were made with Robert Malcolm, who did the work, as is alleged, and assigned the contracts to plaintiff.

There was also a balance remaining due on a contract with Lawrence Roch for work in Thirty-fifth-street, also assigned to plaintiff, of $17 75.

These little affairs being all made right the Judge rendered his decision for the plaintiff, on the spot, for the sum claimed, $567 17.

COURT OF GENERAL SESSIONS.

Before Judge Russell.

It was expected that Thomas Tynon, indicted for murder, would have been tried yesterday. Thomas Tynon is a native of Ireland, aged 23 years. On the night of Feb. 4, at a house of unfavorable character in Thomas-street, he had a difficulty with a girl named Catherine Colby, and laid violent hands on her. Alexander Davis interfered to protect the girl, whereupon a concussion ensued between Tynon and Davis. Tynon, getting worsted in the affray, stabbed Davis. The wound was serious. Davis was taken to the City Hospital, and died four days afterwards. At the Coroner's inquest, evidence was adduced proving that Davis died from delirium tremens, accelerated by the wound. Moreover, the principal witness against Tynon—one Haggerty—is now himself at the point of death, and cannot be produced in Court. Taking these circumstances into consideration, the District-Attorney consented to receive a plea of manslaughter in the fourth degree from the prisoner, instead of putting him upon trial. Tynon pleaded accordingly, and was remanded for sentence.

James Carrigan, jointly indicted with Ellen Murphy, for receiving stolen moneys, to the amount of $1,000, was next placed at the bar. Mary Flynn, a girl 18 years of age, lived with her uncle, Patrick Lovejoy. She formed an acquaintance with Carrigan and Murphy, and was by them induced to rob her uncle of $1,000, which he had, in hard gold, in a bag. The robbery was not effected all at once, but on different occasions. Mary Flynn repented and confessed, and through the information obtained from her, Carrigan and the girl Murphy were arrested. Flynn was the only witness whose testimony was direct and to the point. The jury believed her, self-accusatory as was her evidence, and convicted Carrigan. The girl Murphy, having demanded a separate trial, was not before the Court. Carrigan's sentence was deferred till Saturday, the Judge observing that, if he made restitution of the money, it would go all the better with him.

The Weekly Averages of the Banks of the City of New-York, on Saturday, March 19, 1859, present in the aggregate the following changes from the previous exhibit of March 12:

Increase in Loans	$1,382,682
Decrease in Specie	486,871
Decrease in Circulation	105,308
Increase in Undrawn Deposits	253,684

Including the Clearing-House operations of the week, which show the interexchanges between the Banks, and including also the Sub-Treasury statement of Saturday, the following is the general comparison with the previous exhibit, and also with the movement this time last season:

COMPARATIVE RECAPITULATION.

	March 20, 1858	March 19, 1859	March 12, 1859
Capital	$66,600,000	$68,048,385	$68,048,385

Specie	31,902,656	25,043,183	25,530,054
Circulation	6,853,652	7,996,713	8,100,021
Gross Deposits	91,238,505	108,353,336	107,458,392
Exchanged	17,064,588	21,911,543	21,270,283
Undrawn	74,173,917	86,441,793	86,188,109
In Sub-Treasury	5,683,336	9,046,759	8,677,357

The Bank Averages call for no particular remark. The Specie line is much as we anticipated in our weekly review this morning. The difference against the Banks goes to the Sub-Treasury within about a hundred thousand dollars. This week the order is likely to be reversed, as the payments from the latter promise to be considerably over the receipts. In Loans and Discounts the movement is returning to the point it declined from after the 24th January, though principally on Government Stock. The strictly mercantile Discounts probably stand very little higher than a fortnight ago. As there is no more new Government Stock to hypothecate at present, either at Bank or with private lenders, there is a demand to-day for Treasury Bills at par, for all classes above 4 ₩ cent. The Deposit line is slightly on the rise again, while the Circulation has receded $105,000.

The new week opens on a remarkably quiet Money Market. Business at Bank works with much smoothness. While the offering of all first-class paper within 90 days@4 months is rather within the demand for it, there is no eagerness to extend the line upon longer date bills. These go on the Street at from 6 to 7 ₩ cent., according to the preference for particular names or line of trade among private Money lenders. Demand loans range 4 to 5 ₩ cent. to the Stock Brokers of established credit and on good collateral. The Foreign Exchanges for the Boston steamer open rather sluggishly. The top selling rate on London is 109¾ ₩ cent. The same leading Bankers who held the market at this figure last week are free drawers again. Francs are steady at f.5.13¾@f.5.12½. A good supply of Exchange on England continues here and at the South. The sales in this market, to-day, are above 5,000 bales, of which 4,800 bales are now at sea.

On the Stock Exchange the Bear account continues to have the swing on the Share list, with few exceptions, among which are Panamas and Pacific Mail. The latter brought 78½ this afternoon. Reading and Hudson River were comparatively steady near Saturday's prices. Harlem and Erie lower. And New-York Central, and the Western Road stocks, were eagerly pressed, and close this afternoon ¾ ₩ cent. lower, on Central; ½ on Galena; ⅜@½ on Rock Island; ¼ on Illinois Central; ¾@1 ₩ cent. on Toledo; and ¼ on Michigan Central, than Saturday afternoon. Michigan Southern common and guaranteed shares were sold with the rest of the Western Roads with considerable freedom, but closed up about the same as on Saturday. There seemed no marked resistance to the general decline to-day and the Bull account, numerically, has not been smaller for some weeks past. Nevertheless the prices at the close assumed some steadiness and the tone of the Share dealings left off dull rather than heavy.

In State and Federal Stocks the market improved. The Foreign news has at least no adverse influence on this department of the Exchange. There was a sale of $54,000 New Fives of United States at 104 cash, and another of $100,000, deliverable a few days ahead, free of brokerage, at 104½ ₩ cent.; the last loan of the English Insurance Agencies. The sales of Missouris were principally at 85½, seller's option. Tennessees brought 90¾ ₩ cent., cash, and more offered at 91 at the close. United States fives, of 1865, were again wanted, and sold at 102 ₩ cent. Illinois Central Bonds were strong at 90½@90¾, sales, and 90½ bid on buyer's option at the close. Californias continue weak, and sold at 80 ₩ cent. Erie unsecured Bonds were rather lower. The mortgages of the Company steady.

The annual meeting of the Illinois Central Company was held at Chicago last week, (16th inst.,) when the Report of the Managers, of the figures of which we gave a condensed summary some days ago, was presented and accepted, and a vote of confidence moved on the part of the Stockholders by Mr. RICHARD COBDEN, M. P., who was present to represent by proxy and for himself 80,000 shares of the English stock. This vote was made unanimous. The resolution is as follows:

Resolved, That this meeting learns with satisfaction that a considerable saving has been introduced into the expense of working the line, as compared with previous years; and it reiterates the opinion expressed at a former annual meeting, and which it is glad to find has been carefully observed by the directors, that all extensions, guarantees and outside engagements should be avoided.

That the meeting expresses its confidence in the integrity and zeal of the directors; and it is satisfied that the property and resources of the Company, which partakes more of the character of a land than a railroad company, have sustained no permanent injury from the recent adverse circumstances; and that, with wisdom in its management, and patience on the part of those interested, the future success of the undertaking will amply realize all the reasonable expectations of its proprietors.

The February earnings of the Cleveland and Columbus Road are $72,923, against $68,138 same month last year. The Fort Wayne and Chicago, $123,492, against $97,770 same month last year.

The Usury Laws.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

I would ask what has become of the efforts for the reform of our Usury Laws?

Good bills were introduced early in the session of our present Legislature, in Senate and Assembly, and there the matter seems to rest. The advocates for reform have overthrown all sorts of arguments, and all sorts of allegations that have been brought up in favor of our present usury laws. It only remains now to vote. I don't suppose we could possibly do anything in the way of financial legislation that would do half so much to guard us from money panics and exciting spasms in the money market, as it would to give us freedom in money.

If our Legislature cannot approve of full liberty, I hope they will at least reduce the penalty to the forfeiture of the interest only, and even that much of amelioration they might commence by confining it to commercial paper not over six months to run. It is extremely important that we should have an immediate change. Only give us freedom in moving our money, and we shall not feel so nervous at every little hair-breadth change that occurs in the price of "Consols." It is truly astonishing that our merchants are so lethargic upon this vitally important topic at a time when we don't know what changes European politics may suddenly occasion.

With rational freedom in the movements of our currency, we might, so far as money panics are concerned, set at defiance all the unwise movements of European Governments. COMMERCE.

It is simple in its construction, and is very easily worked.

COLLEGE OF PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS, March 21, 1859.

THIS MORNING TO A REASSEMBLAGE of the members of the late class of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, was announced the sad and startling intelligence of the death of one of their number, Mr. GEO. S. HARNED, of Suffolk, N. Y.; whereupon a special meeting of the class was held, ALEXANDER BADDEN in the chair.

On motion, it was voted that a Committee be appointed to draft resolutions expressive of the sentiments of the class. The following were reported and adopted:

Whereas, Inexorable death has snatched so suddenly from our midst a beloved companion and fellow-student,

Resolved, That while we bow in humble submission and recognize the will of an All-wise Providence, we mourn the loss of our companion and class-mate, who, by his scholarly attainments, manly bearing and uniform kindness, lived endeared to all the circle of his acquaintances.

Resolved, That we most deeply sympathize with his afflicted relatives, and though, by his death a promising professional career has been cut short at its beginning, yet his many virtues will be cherished in the memory and hearts of his associates.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to the relatives of the deceased as a tribute to his memory.
